Bones in Gravel Pit Linked to Sugar Creek Indian Battle

Further evidence of a great Indian tribal battle fought along the west bank of Sugar Creek, on Snowhill Rd., came to light Friday when several additional Indian skeletons buried in a common grave were unearthed at the former LeRoy Engle gravel pit, now owned by T. E. Clemmer.

The skeletons were found mingled together about three feet below the surface, where a trench apparently had been scooped out by the Indians several hundred years ago. The bodies were dumped into the trench promiscuously, and covered up.

ABOUT 30 YEARS AGO, while the pit, which is immediately west of Sugar Creek on the south side of the road, was being worked for gravel for road building in that area, approximately three dozen skeletons, also in the same trench, were unearthed, and at least two of these bore evidence of the battle.

Two flint arrow heads were found imbedded in the bones of two of the skeletons, and it is possible that other bones bore arrow points, but because of the careless removal of most of the skeletons, they were not detected if such was the case.

Presence of the arrow points was not only evidence of the manner in which the Indians met their death, but also evidence that these Indians had been killed by other Indians.

PRIOR to the finding of the large number of skeletons 30 years ago, many other skeletons had been removed from graves which were just above the gravel, not over 30 inches below the surface.

However there was no evidence that these Indians had been killed in battle, although such could have been the case.

Recently the Merritt Supply Co., which has the contract for furnishing the National Cash Register Co. with thousands of loads of gravel to be used in connection with its new building, started stripping back the earth at the old pit and removing gravel to the depth of 8 or 10 feet.

The old trench containing the Indian bones, which apparently extended along the south side of the pit, was struck and several skeletons were torn out by the bulldozers and gravel loaders. Then a dragline scoop was put to work, and how many additional skeletons were torn from their burial place cannot be ascertained.

LOCAL AMATEUR archaeolo-gists estimate the burials were made several hundred years ago before the white man came into this area shortly after 1700.

Some of the bones were in fairly good condition, particularly the leg bones and skulls, although most of them were badly broken by the machinery used in excavating the pit.

The skulls showed extremely low foreheads, indicating Indians of not too much intelligence.

THE CONDITION of the bones from the Snow Hill Rd. pit indicates they may have been there from 300 to 800 years. A number have been preserved.

About 25 years ago while workmen were busy in a gravel pit on the Waterloo and Mt. Sterling Rd., on what was the Charles Cooper farm, they uncovered an Indian burial and a stone tablet dated 1704 was among the bones.

The bones of that burial were exceptionally well preserved, even though the burial was made more than 200 years ago.

Whether more skeletons will be unearthed at this scene is of the recent finds is problematical, but in all probability others will be found during the present large scale operation.

New String Is Attached To $500 Million Soil Bank

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is offering farmers $500 million to reduce acreages of surplus cotton, wheat, corn, rice and tobacco next year under the soil bank retirement plan. But there's a new string attached.

To get this money, farmers will have to cut their total harvested acreage below the average of the last two years. There was no such requirement for the program this year under which $614 million in payments were committed.

This new restriction, announced by the Agriculture Department Friday, is designed to prevent the shifting of cropland from surplus crops to other crops. The department said such a practice would soon create new surpluses and add to the total oversupply of farm commodities.

The $500 million which Congress authorized for the soil bank in the Agriculture Department appropriation bill passed Thursday will be apportioned among the five surplus crops. Wheat's portion, the only one announced at this time, will be $178 million compared with $231 million obligated under this year's program.

THE DEPARTMENT said wheat farmers would earn an average of $20.88 a bushel on retired wheat land compared with $20.04 this year. Rates for other crops will be announced later. The wheat program was set up at this time because much of this grain crop will be seeded in the fall. The others will be planted next spring.

Congress has set a limit of $3,000 on soil bank payments to any one producer next year. Last year there was no such limitation. This payment ceiling will be the only limit on the number of acres a farmer may agree to retire next year.

To limit shifting of land from one set of crops on another, the department will set up a soil bank base for farms participating in the program.

ing in the program. Generally speaking, this base will be the average of all crops, except hay, harvested on a farm in 1956 and 1957.

A farmer would have to limit his 1958 harvested acreage of all crops to his soil bank base, minus the number of acres he agreed to take out of cotton, wheat, corn, rice and tobacco, or any combination of them. If he harvested more, he would lose all payments and become subject to a "civil penalty" equal to half the payment he would have earned.

In announcing the program, under Secretary of Agriculture True D. Morse said the department regretted the imposition of further controls on farmers.

"In the present emergency, however, we must try to make the acreage reserve more effective in adjusting 1958 production," he said.

Last year, crop production equaled the previous year's record despite the soil bank plan.

Last year, crop production in Aug. 26 at county offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Administration, and will close Oct. 14.

Racketeer Dio To Appear Again Before Labor Probers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Labor racketeer Johnny Dio is coming out of jail long enough to face questioning by senators on charges that he had a big hand in victimizing many New York workers.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee said Dio will be placed on the witness stand Thursday or Friday.

McClellan said Dio can invoke the Fifth Amendment if he chooses, but that in any event "the public can judge" the racketeer on the witness stand.

The committee is exploring charges that Dio and Teamsters Union boss James R. Hoffa formed a corrupt alliance that ultimately could subject more than a million New York workers to "crooked" labor contracts and "economic slavery," chaining them to less than decent wages.

That was the testimony Friday of John McNiff, executive secretary of the Assn. of Catholic Trade Unionists. McNiff spoke of "collusion between crooked management and crooked unionism."

McClellan HAS told the committee Dio and his New York underworld henchmen have "fattened their pockets" by extorting from employers and dipping deeply into the funds of union members for whom they negotiated union contracts that allegedly provided few, if any benefits.

McClellan says the evidence will show that Hoffa helped Dio to get charters for Teamster locals and that through this alleged alliance, Hoffa sought a "stranglehold" on the Eastern Seaboard.

As the committee was listening to charges of labor exploitation, a New York judge ordered Dio and three other convicted labor racketeers paroled just long enough to testify in the hearings.

Paroles also went to Samuel

Goldstein, president of Teamsters Local 239 and Max Chester, former financial secretary of Local 405 of the Retail Clerks Union. Both were convicted with Dio of a $30,000 shakedown conspiracy against two New York electric lighting firms. The three are being held pending sentence.

Dio also is under indictment in the acid blinding of labor columnist Victor Riesel.

Cuban Rebels Stiffen in Resistance

HAVANA (AP)—Resistance to President Fulgencio Batista's regime stiffened in eastern Cuba today as antigovernment strikes and rebel flare-ups threatened to spread throughout the area.

Reports said insurgent forces of Fidel Castro had come down from their mountain hideouts and engaged elements of Batista's army. A military headquarters spokesman said army units encountered a rebel band near Uveroos on the south coast of Oriente Province Friday, killing 10 insurgents and capturing several others.

Censorship was in effect on local and incoming foreign newspapers and radio stations and on outgoing news dispatches and details were limited. Local newspapers refrained from giving any news about the political situation.

In the pro-Rebel center of Santiago de Cuba, a group of armed men forced attendants at a service station to turn on their gasoline pumps Friday night, then set the place on fire and fled.

In another incident in Santiago, a woman bus driver was killed by a bomb hurled at her as she was about to board a bus for duty.

Dixiecrats Plan Strategy Meet On Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Russell (D-Ga) called a meeting of senators from nine Southern states today to decide how much more resistance to offer to the administration's battered civil rights bill.

The Senate finished its rewriting of the House-passed measure late Friday, but final arguments on its passage were put over until next week.

"This bill is not going to work any hardship on the people of Georgia," Russell said in advance of the closed meeting in his office. But he said he was going to vote against it.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said he hoped for a rollcall vote Wednesday on final passage. He expressed hope that it would pass by "an overwhelming majority."

But the ultimate fate of the bill was clouded in uncertainty because the House either must accept the Senate changes or a compromise will have to be worked that can run the gantlet of both branches.

IN ADDITION, President Eisenhower's blast at the bill, as amended by the Senate, prompted speculation about a possible veto if the measure should reach him with a jury trial provision in it.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said he regards the bill as "better than nothing at all." He said he would vote for it, but he expressed hope that it would be "strengthened" by Senate-House conference.

In contrast, Johnson said he believed the bill had been strengthened by the Senate and "made more acceptable" to the great majority of the nation and the Congress.

Cooling Winds Pushing Into Great Lakes Area

CHICAGO (AP)—Cooling winds pushed into the upper Mississippi Valley and Great Lakes today.

The Weather Bureau said scattered thunderstorms and showers will accompany the cooling air, spreading eastward from the Ohio Valley and lower Great Lakes.

Thunderstorms cracked across many parts of the nation Friday. Chicago was hit by rain, hail and winds up to 65 m.p.h. which tore down trees and poles.

Thunderstorms and gusts of wind clocked at nearly 60 m.p.h. tore into La Junta, Colo., and dusty winds of 50 m.p.h. roared through El Paso. No serious damage was reported.

person staff has taken part in the arduous process of investigation. Sheriff Hays himself worked almost around the clock during the first 10 or 12 days, after the killing. Agents from the Bureau of Criminal Identification in London also have been called in.

THE SEARCH has reached into a dozen counties in Ohio, over into Pennsylvania and up into Wisconsin.

Convict Flees In Stolen Plane

Ex-Wife's Family Threatened by Thug

ENID, Okla. (AP)—A convicted rapist disappeared in an airplane Friday after escaping from a Texas air base and terrorizing his former wife's family.

Milton J. Martin, 27, described as dangerous by authorities at Bergstrom Air Force Base, was the object of a man hunt today in Oklahoma and surrounding states. Bergstrom officials said he had vowed "not to be taken alive."

Last June Martin was convicted of rape, allegedly holding his wife while another man assaulted her. He was sentenced to 25 years in prison and was being held at Bergstrom pending review of the sentence.

He escaped from the stockade Thursday, authorities said, stole an airplane at nearby Austin, Tex., and made his way to Enid.

Sheriff Mason Hart said Martin was divorced by his wife last month and had threatened to kill her. The sheriff placed her in hiding after hearing of the escape.

MR. AND MRS. Erle B. Fests, parents of Martin's wife, hearing of the escape, flew home from a California vacation with their 13-year-old son, Gary. Hart said the Fests found Martin hiding in a closet in their house.

Martin pulled a knife and bound the three Fests, the sheriff said, and threatened their lives. After several hours he left.

Late Friday afternoon, Sheriff Hart said, a blue and white plane landed at an airport near here. A man hurried out from behind a hangar and climbed into it, and it took off. Hart said the plane was believed to be Martin. Police said the plane stolen at Austin also was blue and white. They said they had no idea who was the pilot when it landed here.

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mrs. Annette Ferguson, 30, died Friday night at Lakeside Hospital from stab wounds received Wednesday. She told police that her boy friend stabbed her in an argument. Police are searching for the 38-year-old man.

British Troops Dispatched Into Revolt-Torn Oman Area

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP)—British ground troops and armored cars today moved by sea and air into revolt-hit Muscat and Oman to aid the pro-British sultan.

Reports from London said a detachment of Scottish Highlanders already had entered the sultan's restive Arabian Peninsula domain. A foreign office spokesman said the troops were being used "in support of the sultan's forces."

Air Vice Marshal L. F. Sinclair, commander of British forces in the Persian Gulf, disclosed in this Persian Gulf center that a small number of British armor and foot troops would support the sultan's forces in their attempt to regain rebel-held territory.

Juvenile Crime Flaring Up In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—One youth was killed and another, was injured Friday night in a flareup of juvenile crime in the city.

The latest killing, in the Bronx, came in the midst of a special weekend police drive against juvenile delinquency as additional detective squads patrolled the boroughs.

A few hours after the slaying, police picked up two youths for questioning.

Fatally attacked in the Bronx was a youth tentatively identified as George Marshall, 18, Negro. The boy had been stabbed in the neck several times.

His companion, Richard Vaughan, 17, Negro, escaped serious injury. He told police he and his friend were assaulted by a group of Negro youths and that the attack was unprovoked.

Tuesday night a 15-year-old white boy was stabbed to death in Washington Heights and a second white boy was seriously hurt in the same gang episode.

Early Thursday in Brooklyn a 16-year-old Negro youth was critically injured in another teen-age gang stabbing.

Ag. Defense Funds For Year Assured

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense and Agriculture Departments, which had been without authority to spend any money since Wednesday, had funds again today.

President Eisenhower signed bills Friday to operate the two departments for the 12 months which began July 1. Both had been operating on temporary spending authority from July 1 to July 31 because of their regular appropriations bills were stalled by civil rights debate in the Senate.

The Defense Department got $33,759,850,000. The Agriculture Department and the Farm Credit Administration were given $3,666,543,757.

Death Ends Quarrel

CLEVELAND (AP)—A neighborhood quarrel resulted in the death early today of George Chapman, 36, police reported. A neighbor, who police said shot Chapman, is being held.

Dulles Says Red Reaction Good as Hoped

LONDON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles' outline of a two-part Western plan for air and ground arms inspection of the Soviet Union and most of North America and Europe has drawn a cautious first reaction from the Russians.

Dulles flew back to Washington to report to President Eisenhower after terming the Soviet reaction "not as bad as had been feared and about as good as had been hoped."

Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin told the U. N. disarmament subcommittee the plan presented Friday by Dulles would receive careful study. But he suggested that it was unfair to Russia and favored the West.

Under the Western proposals, Russia and the West would exchange permission for inspectors to search on the ground and by air for warlike moves.

The first proposed area would take in all the Soviet Union, North America above the Rio Grande and Europe except for a fringe of Ireland and southern parts of Spain and Portugal, Italy, Albania, Greece and Turkey.

UNDER AN alternate plan, Russia could agree to inspection of the Arctic area plus two pie-shaped segments with points at the North Pole. This would include most of Europe from Ireland to the Urals on one side and Alaska to Russia's Kamchatka peninsula on the other.

Several smaller variations could be accepted, Dulles said, all subject to approval of the Western nations involved.

Zorin complained that the proposals did not allow for Soviet inspection of Western bases in Japan, North Africa, the Middle East and elsewhere. Another Soviet spokesman later said the main threat to Russian security comes from bases excluded from the plan.

Auto Driver Killed

As Truck Cargo Falls

HILLSBORO (AP)—Joseph F. Moore, 30, of near here was killed late Friday night as heavy pipes on a passing truck fell on his automobile.

State highway patrolmen said a truck, driven by L. G. Miller, 52, of Independence, Mo., was passing Moore's car north of the Greene-Clinton county line when a security line, holding the pipes, broke and they fell across the front of Moore's car.

Ohio's Federal Highway Fund Share Is Pared

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio's reduced federal aid for roads won't affect the state's highway program, state officials say.

The federal government Friday earmarked $119,338,559 in federal funds to be spent in the 12 months starting in mid-1958. Ohio had expected $120,800,000.

"Frankly, We're Just About Where We Started"

Sheriff Confident Month-Old Murder Will Be Solved

By JACK AYER
"We'll get him some day—that's for sure."

Sheriff Orland Hays said Friday that he is certain the mysterious killer of Mrs. Sarah C. DeWitt, 66-year-old Fayette County widow, will come to justice.

Mrs. DeWitt was killed by four hatchet blows to the head in an upstairs bedroom of her peaceful elapboard bungalow on the CCC

Highway three miles north, on July 2—one month ago yesterday.

"We'll keep punching and we'll come up with something—you can count on that," the sheriff reiterated.

HE ADMITTED that the concentrated one-month search has produced nothing so far, and he even went so far as to say "frankly, we're just about where we started—we haven't got a thing." But his faith that the efforts eventually will bear fruit remains unshaken.

"We've had 25 to 30 suspects in view—actually brought in six of them," the sheriff said, "and as far as we can see, we're no nearer to solving it than we were when it happened."

The whole of the sheriff's four-person staff has taken part in the arduous process of investigation. Sheriff Hays himself worked almost around the clock during the first 10 or 12 days, after the killing. Agents from the Bureau of Criminal Identification in London also have been called in.

THE SEARCH has reached into a dozen counties in Ohio, over into Pennsylvania and up into Wisconsin.

sin. Virtually every police department, hospital and mental institution in the state has been asked to keep their eyes open for the mysterious slayer.

Asked if he still feels "pretty certain" that a youthful Negro seen leaving Mrs. DeWitt's home the day of the slaying was the killer, Sheriff Hays said: "I'm not sure of anything any more."

His companion, Richard Vaughan, 17, Negro, escaped serious injury. He told police he and his friend were assaulted by a group of Negro youths and that the attack was unprovoked.

Tuesday night a 15-year-old white boy was stabbed to death in Washington Heights and a second white boy was seriously hurt in the same gang episode.

Early Thursday in Brooklyn a 16-year-old Negro youth was critically injured in another teen-age gang stabbing.

Ag. Defense Funds For Year Assured

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense and Agriculture Departments, which had been without authority to spend any money since Wednesday, had funds again today.

President Eisenhower signed bills Friday to operate the two departments for the 12 months which began July 1. Both had been operating on temporary spending authority from July 1 to July 31 because of their regular appropriations bills were stalled by civil rights debate in the Senate.

The Defense Department got $33,759,850,000. The Agriculture Department and the Farm Credit Administration were given $3,666,543,757.

Death Ends Quarrel

CLEVELAND (AP)—A neighborhood quarrel resulted in the death early today of George Chapman, 36, police reported. A neighbor, who police said shot Chapman, is being held.

Dulles Says Red Reaction Good as Hoped

LONDON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles' outline of a two-part Western plan for air and ground arms inspection of the Soviet Union and most of North America and Europe has drawn a cautious first reaction from the Russians.

Dulles flew back to Washington to report to President Eisenhower after terming the Soviet reaction "not as bad as had been feared and about as good as had been hoped."

Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin told the U. N. disarmament subcommittee the plan presented Friday by Dulles would receive careful study. But he suggested that it was unfair to Russia and favored the West.

Under the Western proposals, Russia and the West would exchange permission for inspectors to search on the ground and by air for warlike moves.

The first proposed area would take in all the Soviet Union, North America above the Rio Grande and Europe except for a fringe of Ireland and southern parts of Spain and Portugal, Italy, Albania, Greece and Turkey.

UNDER AN alternate plan, Russia could agree to inspection of the Arctic area plus two pie-shaped segments with points at the North Pole. This would include most of Europe from Ireland to the Urals on one side and Alaska to Russia's Kamchatka peninsula on the other.

Several smaller variations could be accepted, Dulles said, all subject to approval of the Western nations involved.

Zorin complained that the proposals did not allow for Soviet inspection of Western bases in Japan, North Africa, the Middle East and elsewhere. Another Soviet spokesman later said the main threat to Russian security comes from bases excluded from the plan.

Auto Driver Killed As Truck Cargo Falls

HILLSBORO (AP)—Joseph F. Moore, 30, of near here was killed late Friday night as heavy pipes on a passing truck fell on his automobile.

State highway patrolmen said a truck, driven by L. G. Miller, 52, of Independence, Mo., was passing Moore's car north of the Greene-Clinton county line when a security line, holding the pipes, broke and they fell across the front of Moore's car.

Ohio's Federal Highway Fund Share Is Pared

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio's reduced federal aid for roads won't affect the state's highway program, state officials say.

The federal government Friday earmarked $119,338,559 in federal funds to be spent in the 12 months starting in mid-1958. Ohio had expected $120,800,000.

"Frankly, We're Just About Where We Started"

Sheriff Confident Month-Old Murder Will Be Solved

By JACK AYER
"We'll get him some day—that's for sure."

Sheriff Orland Hays said Friday that he is certain the mysterious killer of Mrs. Sarah C. DeWitt, 86-year-old Fayette County widow, will come to justice.

Mrs. DeWitt was killed by four hatchet blows to the head in an upstairs bedroom of her peaceful clapboard bungalow on the CCC

Highway three miles north, on July 2—one month ago yesterday.

"We'll keep punching and we'll come up with something—you can count on that," the sheriff reiterated.

HE ADMITTED that the concentrated one-month search has produced nothing so far, and he even went so far as to say "Frankly, we're just about where we started—we haven't got a thing." But his faith that the efforts eventually will bear fruit remains unshaken.

"We've had 25 to 30 suspects in view—actually brought in six of them," the sheriff said, "and as far as we can see, we're no nearer to solving it than we were when it happened."

Plans Shape Up For Continent's Top Dairy Show

International Expo
To Be Held in Chicago Oct. 9-15

CHICAGO.—The continent's biggest dairy cattle exposition, the International Dairy Show, is being readied for its fifth annual edition Oct. 9 to 15 in Chicago's International Amphitheatre.

It will bring together the best purebred dairy cattle from this country and Canada, according to W. A. Wentworth, of Frankfort, Ky., president. The competition is the final one of the year, bringing top state fair winners together for this "World Series" of dairy cattle shows.

Entries are expected to top last year's 2,000 head of cattle. The National Jersey Show is slated again this year, and the Jersey breed will have its first National Jersey Junior Show at Chicago this year for boy and girl owners. The Guernsey breed will have its first National Futurity for 3-year-old cows at the Chicago exposition.

CASH PRIZES total nearly $47,000 this year, the largest ever offered at the Chicago show.

Top entertainment will again be the International "Golden Spurs" rodeo, testing man against beast in dangerous and exciting competitions of the cowboy sport. It attracts the country's leading rodeo contestants, Rex Allen, cinema and TV star, will appear at all performances.

Other events will include the third annual National 4-H Educational Conference for Dairy project winners from over 20 states, the International Collegiate and 4-H Dairy Cattle Judging contests, and a Collegiate Dairy Products Judging contest. The International Quarter Horse Show and first annual International Quarter Horse Sale are slated for Oct. 16 and 17.

The third annual American Dairy Princess Contest will crown a new princess to reign over dairy functions nationally for one year.

ACCORDING to the management, arrangements for group excursion tours to Chicago for the show have been made with various transportation companies. A "Dairymen's Special" of half rates for rodeo seats are offered dairymen and their families and 4-H club and vocational agriculture students for the days when the dairy breeds are judged.

All Junior Show cattle in the six dairy breeds will be judged on opening day, Wednesday, Oct. 9, these entries are owned and shown by farm boys and girls. Holsteins, Jerseys and Brown Swiss in the open competition will have winners picked on Oct. 10 and 11, while Ayrshires, Guernseys and Milking Shorthorns will be judged on Oct. 14 and 15.

U. S. Falls Short On Wheat Exports

WASHINGTON.—The United States fell short by about five million bushels in selling its export quota of wheat under the international wheat agreement for the marketing year ending July 31.

This country's quota was 128 million bushels and sales totaled about 122 million bushels.

The agreement is designed to help stabilize prices and supplies of wheat in world markets.

Sales under the agreement were only a small portion of this country's total exports during the year just ended. Altogether they totaled about 540 million bushels, a record.

Doctors say the left hand pockets of their suits wear out first. That's where they keep their watch to check pulse reactions.

Researchers Give Tips On Trefoil

WOOSTER, O.—The story making the rounds on Ohio farms that birdsfoot trefoil is difficult to grow is out of proportion to the truth, say agronomists at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

The researchers say that good stands of this legume, an excellent crop for permanent pastures, can be secured without too much difficulty. One of the main secrets is to avoid the temptation to sow other legumes with trefoil. This is bad business, say the agronomists, because slow-pokish trefoil cannot keep up with speedier growing legumes in the seedling stage. The result is crowd-out.

These tips on trefoil were presented at the recent Hay and Pasture Day.

THE STATION workers recommend that trefoil be sowed either alone or in oats. It has not performed well in wheat or barley. Excellent stands have been grown at the agronomy farm on Wooster silt loam when the trefoil was given a chance.

A mixture of grass and trefoil compares pretty well with a mixture of alfalfa and grass for hay. However, where a farmer has well drained land on which alfalfa thrives, he would be wisest to stick to the higher yielding alfalfa.

Imported types of trefoil are preferred over the Empire variety where rotation grazing practices can be followed. Pastures to be grazed continuously should be seeded with Empire or a mixture of the two types.

Treatment Varies For Insect Stings

COLUMBUS, O.—Stings of the honeybee and wasp may feel alike, but they actually are different and should be treated differently, says Ohio State University Extension Apiarist Charles Reese.

The honeybee—and it's "she" if it stings—leaves a stinger in her victim. When she stings she dies, because leaving the stinger tears away part of her body. For this reason the honeybee usually stings only in defense of her colony.

In contrast, females of the wasp, hornet, and yellow jacket can sting again and again. They use their stingers as defense weapons to force venomous fluid into the flesh. They, too, will sting if their homes are disturbed and also if caught inside a car or up a sleeve. Both bees and wasps sting if they are frightened or confused, explains Reese.

IF STUNG by a honeybee, remove the stinger immediately to keep much of the poison from entering the flesh. It is important to scrape out the stinger—there's nothing better than a sharp fingernail; never pull it out. If the stinger is pulled out, the fingers press the poison sac attached to the stinger's base and this forces the poison into the skin—as a hypodermic needle would. Only a honeybee leaves a stinger.

Cold applications will relieve the swelling that may result if stung by a wasp, hornet, yellow jacket, bumblebee or honeybee. Then apply a paste made of water and bicarbonate of soda, recommends the specialist.

If stung many times, or if the reaction is severe, see a doctor promptly, Reese advises.

When drilling fence-post holes with a tractor-driven auger, here is an easy way to spot the exact location for each hole. As the alignment and distance for each hole are measured, mark the exact spot for each hole with a scoopful of dry lime. Thus, the tractor operator can readily see where to set the auger point.

Econogram for Farmers

EDITOR'S NOTE: These news highlights in economics and public affairs relating to agriculture are summarized by agricultural extension economists at Ohio State University.

Personal incomes in U. S. continue to rise. Look for average a little higher this year than last. Somewhat higher costs of living will counteract part of added increases. Business inventories stable. Construction running at record levels. Unemployment still spotty.

Total government purchases of goods and services rose further in second quarter of 1957. A continued rise is experienced in national security outlays as well as more spending by state and local governments.

Telephones in Ohio farm homes advanced from 38 per cent in 1940 to 72 per cent in 1956. A little over one-half of farm homes in the U. S. have telephones.

Ohio cash receipts from farm marketings for first five months of year totaled 377.8 million dollars compared with 380.5 million dollars in same period last year. A little less than one percent drop. Drop in receipts from crops were up about 6 million dollars.

Egg prices expected to be better this fall and winter. Laying flocks have been trimmed to cut losses. Total laying hens on July 1 were 2 million less than a year ago (about 1 percent). Chicks for replacement are about 20 per cent below last year. Rate of lay increasing and more old hens may be carried over.

MUCH OF WORLD egg market depressed in 1957 according to USDA report. The U. S. does not commercially export many of its 170 million cases of eggs produced annually. The usual 1½ million cases exported to other countries often have been a stabilizing factor.

TURKEY PRODUCTION this year still indicated to be above last year's 77 million turkey crop. Of last year's crop, 14 million were small breeds and 63 million were heavy breeds. Increase this year expected in heavy breed. Storage stocks of turkey continue large. Last month they were more than double a year earlier.

Late summer and fall potato acreage this year down 1½ percent. Ohio acreage down 8½ per cent. Total potato acreage planted for year up a little less than 1 per cent. Yields increasing; however, drought in East may reduce yields in that area.

Records Remove Guess Out of Cattle Shrinkage

You can shrink your cattle profits if you guess wrong on cattle shrinkage.

The answer is to quit guessing, says an article in the August issue of Successful Farming magazine. Keep records on shrinkage experience and refer to them when you sell. And, keep these points in mind:

1. The highest price per pound doesn't necessarily mean the highest profit per animal. It depends upon how many pounds are counted. A lower price per pound on cattle as they start can be more profitable than a higher pound price when the buyer is allowed to subtract too many pounds for shrinkage.

2. If you sell cattle with a pencil shrink and the cattle are weighed early in the morning, the buyer is getting the benefit of two weight shrinkages.

3. If animals are moved and weighed on scales away from the farm or ranch, the weight of the cattle shrinks some more. It's up to you to know how much and to allow for it. Shrinkage records do this.

4. Weighing away from the farm or ranch also involves certain incidental expenses, which you pay. You should allow for these expenses in considering a price offer.

HERE ARE some guides on shrinkage, suggested in the magazine:

Buyers generally agree that the weight of the average animal will decrease from 3 to 4 per cent if the animal has gone without food or water 8 to 12 hours. This is called excretory shrink, or loss of belly fill.

The buyer is allowing for this when he asks that the poundage of the animals be calculated, not at actual weight, but at estimated weight after an overnight stand in dry lot.

Sometimes the buyer will put this another way. If this weighing condition can't be placed in the sales agreement, he may ask that the weight figure be reduced 3 to 4 per cent to allow for the fill the animals are assumed to be carrying. This is called pencil shrinkage. It is something for the producer to watch.

Sometimes the pencil shrinkage asked is more than 3 to 4 per cent. Sometimes it is less.

If you are going to allow a pencil shrinkage or an estimated weight after an overnight stand, then you have to get enough additional money per pound to make up the difference in poundage. It's as simple as that, the magazine says.

Hydrated Lime Helps Prevent Cattle Foot Rot

Foot rot sometimes appears in cattle on pasture during the dry summer months when the animals have had no chance to come in contact with mud or filthy lots.

Many of these cases can be prevented by making the animals walk through three or four inches of hydrated lime at least once daily. This can be done by putting the lime in a shallow box about two feet wide, eight inches deep, and 10 feet long and placing the box in a narrow gate or doorway that the cattle will have to use in getting to feed or water.

The treatment can be made more effective by mixing five pounds of powdered copper sulfate with every 100 pounds of lime. The box will require occasional cleaning and frequent addition of lime.

More and more farmers are taking advantage of the Central Ohio Breeding Assn. artificial insemination program in order to improve the herd production.

Dale Smith, COBA technician here, said 599 Fayette County farms belong to the Dairy Herd Improvement Assn. and that of the 4,700 dairy cows in the county, more than 20 per cent of them were bred artificially during the first six months of this year.

One of the latest additions to the COBA sires, Smith said, is Meadow Springs Follow-on Laird, an outstanding Holstein bull.

He has 11 daughters that have produced an average of 14,230 pounds of 3.8 per cent milk and 536 pounds of butterfat. Eleven dams have produced an average of 14,230 pounds of 3.44 per cent milk and 491 pounds of fat. This is an increase of daughters over the

New COBA Holstein Sire

More and more farmers are taking advantage of the Central Ohio Breeding Assn. artificial insemination program in order to improve the herd production.

Dale Smith, COBA technician here, said 599 Fayette County farms belong to the Dairy Herd Improvement Assn. and that of the 4,700 dairy cows in the county, more than 20 per cent of them were bred artificially during the first six months of this year.

One of the latest additions to the COBA sires, Smith said, is Meadow Springs Follow-on Laird, an outstanding Holstein bull.

He has 11 daughters that have produced an average of 14,230 pounds of 3.8 per cent milk and 536 pounds of butterfat. Eleven dams have produced an average of 14,250 pounds of 3.44 per cent milk and 491 pounds of fat. This is an increase of daughters over the dams of 45 pounds of butterfat. "Laird" has 16 classified daughters that average 83.6 per cent.

Jap Beetles Busy in Ohio

WOOSTER — The Japanese beetle, flashily colored but bitter enemy of the rose fancier, turf owner and grape grower, has spread its ranks far and wide in Ohio this year.

Dr. J. B. Polivka of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station says complaints of the Japanese beetle have been pouring in from sections of the state that formerly haven't been bothered. The beetle has been chewing its way through a roughly crescent-shaped area in the state, running from Toledo to Cleveland, Youngstown, East Liverpool, Marietta and Cincinnati.

Although June roses have long gone, the hybrid roses which bloom until the chill days of fall are favorite feeding grounds for the insects. A gardener with time on his hands can hand-pick the pests. But spraying is a more time-saving method, says Polivka. He recommends DDT emulsion because it lasts longer than the DDT wettable powder. Apply the insecticide at weekly intervals.

HOMEOWNERS who have trees or shrubs that they treasure highly, such as Chinese elm or mountain ash, should keep an eagle-eye out for Jap beetle attacks. Grape vines and the young grapes also are choice tidbits.

"In view of the heavy adult infestations of the beetle," says the entomologist, "turf damage can be expected to be serious this fall."

If you see even a half dozen beetles around your yard, start to apply chlordane now.

Use one-half cup of a 72 percent chlordane emulsion in five gallons of water for each 1,000 square feet of lawn. This will kill the young grubs before they have sheared off too many of the grass roots.

Hot Weather Hard on Hens And Egg Laying

COLUMBUS—When temperatures pass 80 degrees poultrymen should make extra efforts to maintain production of their laying flocks, advises Glyde A. March, Ohio State University extension poultry specialist.

Hens eat less when temperatures climb, Marsh points out, and when they don't eat they can't lay. At 100 degrees, feed consumption of layers may be less than half that at normal pen temperatures. When temperatures pass 70 degrees, the poultry specialist explains, calcium is not converted into eggshells as efficiently as otherwise.

As a result, shell thickness is reduced and thin, weak-shelled eggs are produced. At temperatures of 105 degrees layers may collapse and die of heat prostration.

March says the use of electric lights in the pens to permit layers to feed in the cool hours of the morning and evening will help maintain feed consumption. Wet ashes made with cold water also will help. By increasing the flow rate of automatic drinking fountains, cooler water will be supplied to the flock.

Poultry house temperatures, Marsh says, may be reduced by using white wash on the roof, by opening all doors and windows, and by reversing exhaust fans so they blow into the pens. During periods of extreme heat, spraying birds and pens with mist from a garden hose will enable layers to survive.

Farm Capital Requirements Soar Upward

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Agriculture Department report on farm costs showed today that farming is fast becoming an occupation requiring substantial capital.

The capital investment in 1956 was said to have ranged from $10,000 on average commercial family-operated peanut-cotton farms to $177,000 on sheep ranches in the southwest. These averages compared with $6,000 to $120,000 in the 1947-49 period.

The average capital investment in other types of family-operated farms in 1956 compared with the 1947-49 period respectively included: Northeastern dairy farm $30,000 and $21,400; Wisconsin dairy farm $33,700 and $27,300; corn belt hog-dairy farm $43,200 and $32,400; corn belt hog-beef farm $36,310 and $26,000; corn belt cash grain farm $92,100 and $63,100; North Carolina cotton-tobacco farm $38,200 and $30,370; high plains cotton farm in Texas $38,250 and $28,860; winter wheat farm $76,540 and $55,970; and intermountain cattle farm $61,600 and $28,980.

Reviewing farm production costs and incomes, the report said that wheat farms and livestock ranches have shown the widest variation in net income since 1937. Dairy, tobacco and corn belt farms (except for the hog-beef fattening farms) were said to have shown the greatest stability.

Lightning Bolts May Damage Vegetable Crops

COLUMBUS — Those scorched spots frequently appearing mysteriously in vegetable fields this time of year may be caused by lightning, says E. C. Wittmeyer, Ohio State University extension horticulturist.

In an area struck by lightning, Wittmeyer says, the stems of plants will be scorched at the ground line. Pith inside the stems may be hollow or chambered and appear as if steam had formed there.

The injured plants may be in a circular area, depending upon the path of lightning. Occasionally, irregular lines of dead plants may radiate from the center of the circle.

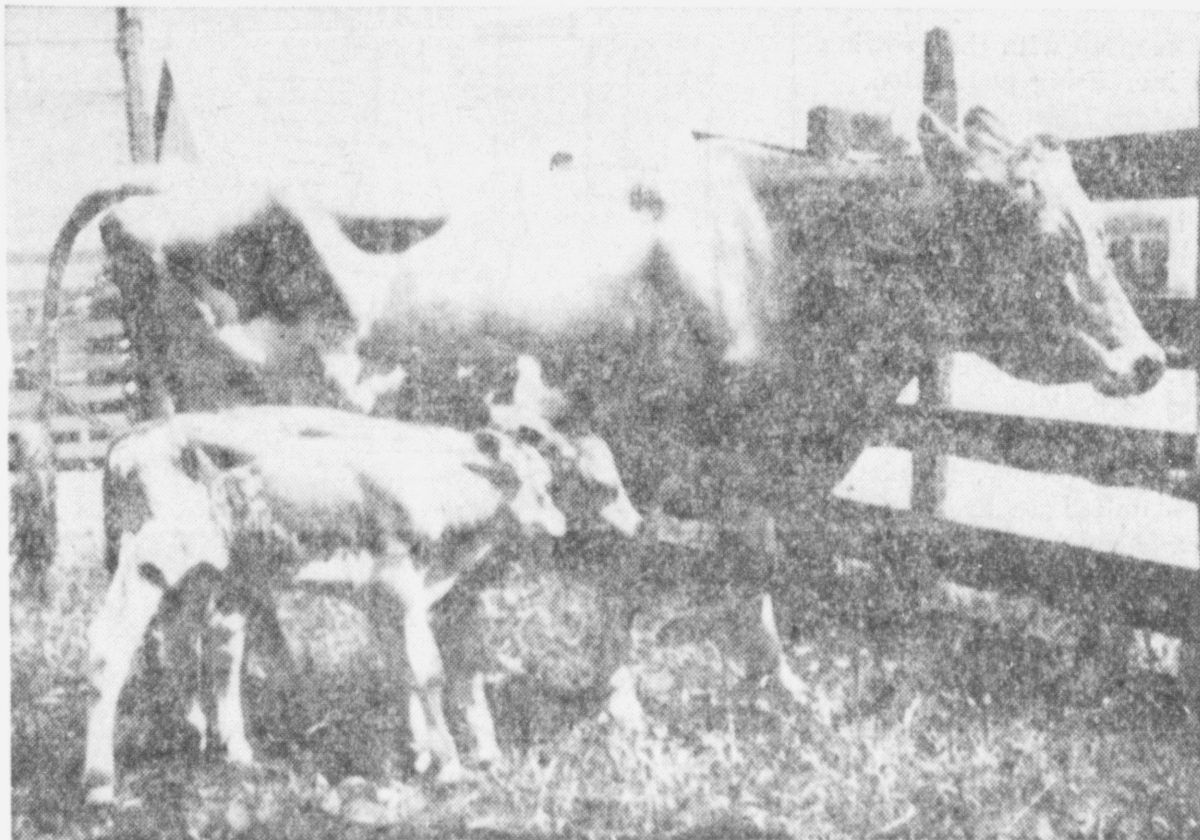

Some plants at the perimeter will have some leaves which are dead and others still green.

Lightning injury is not severe, Wittmeyer says, when the soil surface is moist and the subsoil is dry. Under such conditions, the lightning will cover a greater area than otherwise.

About all growers can do for lightning damage is replant the area where plants are killed, according to the horticulturist. Many times, he says, plants not too severely damaged will recover.

To prevent shifting of hay bales on a hayrack, secure 4x4 stock along the rack sides, strip the floor crosswise every three feet with crating lumber, then cover the entire floor area with automobile undercoating.

Mother, Daughter Produce Twins

THIS 14-YEAR-OLD COW produced twins, one male and the other a female born a few hours after her daughter had given birth to twin heifers.

HERE'S THE FOUR-YEAR OLD DAUGHTER—and her pair of heifer calves.

"Like mother like daughter" might well be applied to two Guernsey cows owned by Roy Corn, who lives on the Harry Bush Farm, Harold Rd., a mile northeast of Jeffersonville. The two Guernseys recently gave birth to two twin calves within a few hours time.

One cow, 4-years-old, is a daughter of the 14-year-old cow.

The heifer was first to bring a pair of twin calves, both heifers, into the world, and a few hours later the aged mother of the heifer gave birth to mixed twins.

Both were sired by a Brown Swiss bull, and one of the pair of females is nearly white.

Such a record of births is a rarity.

Three-fifths of wheel tractors purchased by farmers in 1955 were used tractors. Total of nearly 600,000 were bought that year.

Weed-Grown Pasture Fields Badge of Poor Management

WOOSTER, O.—Hayfields cluttered with noxious weeds are largely a matter of poor soil and poor management, says an Ohio Agricultural Experiment station agronomist.

Speaking at the recent hay and pasture day, D. D. Bondarenko gave Ohio farmers a glint of hope for cleaner fields, announcing new improvements in chemicals that will do a more effective job.

Canada thistle always has been a stickler in hayfields and is becoming worse in some spots, says Bondarenko. Research has disclosed that a chemical named amino triazole will kill thistles. It still is rather expensive, but one application can wipe out thistle for good if conditions are favorable.

It would be folly for farmers to lean entirely on chemicals to keep out unwanted plants, the agronomist warned. When enough lime and fertilizer are added to properly drained soils, grasses and legumes can smother out weeds by their rapid growth.

OTHER WAYS Bondarenko listed to get clean hay and pasture fields are to sow only weed-free seed, seed adapted species and superior varieties, prepare the seed-bed long enough in advance of seeding so that one or more crops of weeds are killed, and mow properly, especially where legumes that may be harmed by herbicides are mixed in with grasses.

Either letting the cows graze the pasture too close or not enough will aid weed growth.

A chemical cousin of 2,4-D was listed by Bondarenko as promising. It is 2,4-DB which, although chemically similar to 2,4-D, it has different uses in weed control. Research indicates that 2,4-DB will eliminate certain weeds in seedling stands of forage legumes without harming the legumes.

It also will be useful in established meadows.

Boy, 5, Gets Taste

OF Automobile Driving
SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Five-year-old Robert Eugene Harford found his father's car keys in a cupboard at his home Friday.

Going into the family's garage he got the car started and it crashed through the garage doors which were closed, out the driveway, across the street and smashed into a neighbor's garage.

Both the garages as well as the car were damaged, but Robert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Harford, escaped injury.

Recent research work indicates that adding antibiotics and unidentified growth factors to poultry rations increases eggshell strength. Antibiotics in the feed or drinking water of laying flocks also increase egg production of the treated birds significantly.

Expert Scores Reducing Pills

WASHINGTON (AP)—An expert told Congress Friday that many advertised weight-reducing preparations are inefficient, useless and a waste of time, while others represent a real menace to public health.

Dr. S. William Kalb said a medically prescribed diet is still the only sure way to reduce, with drugs serving only as a crutch to assist individuals in cutting down on eating.

Dr. Kalb, an authority on obesity, testified before a House Government Operations Subcommittee investigating government regulation of advertised claims for weight reducing preparations.

Dr. Kalb told the subcommittee that many of the drugs are harmless, but to individuals with particular sensitivity or a form of illness they could be harmful or even fatal.

"The important thing is that all these drugs, for weight reduction or any other purpose, should be sold on prescription only," he said.

Dr. Kalb drew a burst of laughter from the committee when he popped a tablet from a committee exhibit bottle into his mouth, and observed:

"Tastes very good. Harmless, you could give it to nursing mothers."

"Join me," he invited the committee, extending the bottle of a well known preparation.

Committee members complied, and munched judiciously.

"What is it?" inquired Blatnik. "Skimmed milk, with a little lemon juice added," Dr. Kalb replied.

"It won't kill your appetite," he assured members. "Some people eat a bottle of these a day between meals."

Committee counsel said the bottle retails at $3—a figure Dr. Kalb estimated afforded a profit of about 400,000 per cent. "You could figure it out with a slide rule," he said.

Opinions Differ On Matters of School Aid

Inquiry among quite a number of Washington C. H. and other Fayette County residents reveals that while there is some disagreement in opinions heard as to the wisdom of permitting use of federal money for construction of public schools, there apparently is a decisive majority who believe that Congress was right when the proposed school aid bill was defeated by the House of Representatives.

Reports generally indicate this is true in most sections of the nation.

Many reasons are given for this attitude. Among the first often mentioned is that such federal aid would carry a grave danger in future of federal government control of public schools.

Another reason frequently stated is that there already is too much centralized government in Washington, D. C., taking power away from the states; that this has been growing by leaps and bounds into an entrenched all-powerful bureaucracy. Adding public schools to a part of the growing federal burden would in time mean just another big bureaucratic department with its high costs of administration.

The proposed school aid program, according to estimates, would have taken $19,440,000 in taxes out of Ohio, for example, and in return would have allotted this state $11,347,000 for school aid, a difference of more than eight million dollars.

This would mean that Ohioans would, in effect, be paying for 270 class rooms for other states while other states would not be paying for a single class room in Ohio.

There has been no conclusive evidence shown that federal money is needed to help the states keep up with the growing demands of an increasing population.

Treasury Secretary Humphrey not long ago testified that "... during the last 9 months ... more elementary and secondary school bonds were sold than in any 9-month period in our history ... In the past 4 years 8.8 billion dollars have been spent for school construction—more than had been spent in the preceding 20 years."

President Eisenhower, when he was head of Columbia University, is quoted as once saying—"unless we are careful, even the great and necessary educational processes in our country will become yet another vehicle by which the believers in paternalism, if not outright Socialism, will gain still an additional power for the central government."

States and communities are financially able to build their own schools when they find they need them. Evidence is abundant nearly everywhere that they are doing so.

There is another problem in all this to which a growing percentage of the public is beginning to show concern. Are we getting our money's worth in real education for the vast amount being put out by the public for schools?

Are we giving as much attention to the efficiency of our schools, to doing our best with what we have and to the actual work being put into education, as we are to listening to the constant propaganda that we need a lot more money to spend on our schools?

That also is something to think about and our educators should be giving that problem and that question just as much attention as they do to seeking more money for education and new schools.

The Oldsters at Work

On Sunday, I watched Pierre Montoux conduct the Boston Symphony at Tanglewood. Montoux is 82. He has had a continuous schedule this summer at Tanglewood after a very difficult season in New York, including conducting a Metropolitan Opera which is no light chore.

Leading an orchestra of a hundred or more men, and as at Tanglewood also one woman, is not only an intellectual task of the highest order but involves violent physical effort, tremendous capacity for memory, self-control, and the simultaneous response to composer, player and audience. It is surprising that a man can do this at 82; yet look so fresh and even buoyant after the performance is over.

Age is, of course, as much of the spirit as of the arteries. Those who grow old quickest are surely those who have least to interest and concern them; yet I have known loafers who grow old, if not gracefully, that is, they live long.

Therefore, there are apparently no fixed rules. But it is possible to note, in our own country, the amazing spectacle of Bernard Baruch writing his memoirs at 87, the first volume coming out in August, and Herbert Hoover, 83, writing his definitive work on Woodrow Wilson which will shortly be published, and Arthur Vin- g Davis, 90, still engaging in large real estate transactions.

Age apparently has nothing to do with capacity to work if the spirit and desire are still alive. Of course, such men as I described do not pursue hobbies. They need no toys. They keep working at their tasks, Montoux, music; Baruch, the economy of nations; Hoover, govern ment; Davis, business, activities they know and understand and are able to do competently. The fellow who retires and pursues a hobby may expend as much physical effort on the hobby as on his life work, but the interest is not keen although it may be exciting, and the effort is often without result—the kind of result that is really meaningful to him. Those who hate what they are doing, do it not well at all, and do themselves no good at all. They are playing games.

That is why so many rich women go in for toys. Before they found the toys they did nothing themselves, delegating their responsibilities to hirelings and consuming time in the peripheral activities of search for clothes, the gossip of the hair-dressing parlor, auctions for pictures, luncheons with other women whom they hate or dinners with the husband's associates whom they find to be bores. They have toys and properties of their sta-lived according to the necessity.

Then comes the day when they want to do something themselves, to find themselves, as the phrase may be. So, they go in for all sorts of movements, not because they believe in them, but because somebody they know believes in them. It is a group relationship rather than individual conviction. So, one suddenly discovers that a large number of women were anti-Communist and they thought that Joe McCarthy would save the world, but when Eisenhower ran for president in 1952, they thought that Eisenhower would save the world.

As the human race cannot be saved by two disparate saviors simultaneously, they dumped McCarthy. Now, most of them believe that either Billy Graham, Nehru or Dr. Schweitzer will save the world, depending upon their group affiliations and their most recent dinner conversations.

The oldsters still at work, such as Montoux, Baruch, Hoover, Davis and many others, do not require such sublimations. They do not live in a toyland world. They continue their life work as long as they can without being diverted by the temporary errors of their neighbors who believe that they can achieve long life by retiring from life.

It is the fallacy of our industrial establishment that men are retired at 62 or 65, just when experience has accumulated and matured into wisdom, just when a proper balance of intellect and spirit is producing wisdom. Wisdom is a quality that comes to few.

I suppose that I should have concentrated on Berlioz and Hindemith on Sunday, but I could not avoid thinking of what men can do in their eighties if the will to do is not shrunk by life's petty battles and small affairs and by the fears of illness and death.

Three New Drugs Found To Aid War On Disease

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

DEVELOPMENT of three new drugs, destined to benefit mankind in three different ways, comprises this month's report on medical advances.

Streptovaricin, a new antimicrobial agent, gives promise of being of value in the treatment of tuberculosis. The drug is derived from a fungus, Streptomyces spectabilis, found in the soil near Dallas, Texas.

Used Against TB

Doctors who have studied the drug report it is active against a wide variety of bacteria and is "particularly striking" when used against the tuberculosis germ.

Experiments with mice indicate it is especially effective for treating tuberculosis when used in conjunction with the drug isoniazid. Although only half as active as isoniazid when used alone, it is, nevertheless, about ten times as active as streptomycin and about 100 times as active as para-aminosalicylic acid.

Washington pathologists report that the mustard derivative ThioTEPA (cq) is one of the best all-around drugs yet found for treating certain cancers and leukemias.

Cancer Growth Impeded

Growth of tumors was noticeably impeded after application of ThioTEPA in more than 50 cancer cases that were studied.

Appreciable inhibition of cancer growth was noted in carcinoma of the ovaries, lungs, stomach, liver, mouth and pancreas, that it can be eliminated.

as well as melanomas and lymphomas, including Hodgkins disease. Earlier studies produced excellent results in cases of lymphocytic and monocytic leukemia.

While we cannot regard this new drug as a cure for cancer, it does offer promise as an adjunct to cancer therapy.

Pain-Killing Drug

A new pain-killing drug, one of the fastest-acting known, was revealed recently at an American Chemical Society meeting. The new compound is a synthetic product and in tests on animals relieved pain in 10 minutes as compared with the 45 minutes required by morphine.

Like morphine, this new drug belongs to a family known as analgesics—agents which ease pain without causing the patient to lose consciousness.

The new analgesic also is reported to have a long-lasting effect.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

P.W.: I have been bothered for years with perspiring hands. Can you advise me what to do?

Answer: Excessive sweating of the palms may be an indication of some general disorder, such as an infection or perhaps even difficulty with the thyroid gland. In many cases, it is a localized condition, the cause for which cannot be determined.

There is no treatment that seems to be of any particular value. Of course, a careful search should be made for the cause, so that it can be eliminated.

Cereal and Toys Success Recipe For Two Brothers

By BILL NEWKIRK

TOLEDO, Ohio (P)—"Waaaah! I want the cereal with the magic whatzit in the box!"

Ever hear a tot roar out that demand in a supermarket?

It may be murder for mother, but the younger generation's weakness for breakfast food premiums is the lifeblood of two scholarly brothers named Benjamin and Henry Hirsch.

The Hirsches, who specialize in the manufacture of cereal toys, literally sit up nights dreaming up new ones to make junior hunger for sraunchie raunchies instead of pippie wippies.

"We have to," said 52-year-old Ben, elder of the brothers by three years. "The novelty in novelty toys wears off quickly, and if you're not ready with a new one, you're dead."

So far, the Hirsches show no signs of running out of ideas.

Their inventions include a "Nautilus" submarine which dives and surfaces under the power of a mysterious "atomic fuel" (baking powder) and a sailboat which glides along in a windless bathtub after "nuclear propellant" (a camphor-like substance) is dabbed on its stern.

Since all Hirsch toys currently go to a breakfast food manufacturer, buying cereal is the only way to get one.

Even with orders for toys running into the 10 millions the Hirsch Laboratories, Inc. operates as a factory for only about five months out of a year.

Opinions Differ On Matters of School Aid

Inquiry among quite a number of Washington C. H. and other Fayette County residents reveals that while there is some disagreement in opinions heard as to the wisdom of permitting use of federal money for construction of public schools, there apparently is a decisive majority who believe that Congress was right when the proposed school aid bill was defeated by the House of Representatives.

Reports generally indicate this is true in most sections of the nation.

Many reasons are given for this attitude. Among the first often mentioned is that such federal aid would carry a grave danger in future of federal government control of public schools.

Another reason frequently stated is that there already is too much centralized government in Washington, D. C., taking power away from the states; that this has been growing by leaps and bounds into an entrenched all-powerful bureaucracy. Adding public schools to a part of the growing federal burden would in time mean just another big bureaucratic department with its high costs of administration.

The proposed school aid program, according to estimates, would have taken $19,440,000 in taxes out of Ohio, for example, and in return would have allotted this state $11,347,000 for school aid, a difference of more than eight million dollars.

This would mean that Ohioans would, in effect, be paying for 270 class rooms for other states while other states would not be paying for a single class room in Ohio.

There has been no conclusive evidence shown that federal money is needed to help the states keep up with the growing demands of an increasing population.

Treasury Secretary Humphrey not long ago testified that "... during the last 9 months ... more elementary and secondary school bonds were sold than in any 9-month period in our history ... In the past 4 years 8.8 billion dollars have been spent for school construction—more than had been spent in the preceding 20 years."

States and communities are financially able to build their own schools when they find they need them. Evidence is abundant nearly everywhere that they are doing so.

There is another problem in all this to which a growing percentage of the public is beginning to show concern. Are we getting our money's worth in real education for the vast amount being put out by the public for schools?

Are we giving as much attention to the efficiency of our schools, to doing our best with what we have and to the actual work being put into education, as we are to listening to the constant propaganda that we need a lot more money to spend on our schools?

That also is something to think about and our educators should be giving that problem and that question just as much attention as they do to seeking more money for education and new schools.

American 'Slangage' Disappearing

Are young moderns becoming more sophisticated or are they just bored with the old "slangage" routine?

Currently vocabulary is on such an even keel that Mr. Webster would be mighty proud. There's scarcely a "daddy-o" heard at a beach picnic. Things have gone so literal that if a real doll were to say "dig that" a square would pick up a shovel. "Cool" means just that—so hardly heard at this season of the year.

Meanwhile, from abroad comes a collection of lively lingo that may still help maintain one in this new elegant word strata. The way to get it going in your set is to confide in one friend and you two spring it when you're with the group.

The most charming words are these:

French young moderns say "sensas," meaning fabulous or terrific. You say it as one word—sensas! Pronounce it sonsoss. If you'd be even more fabulous you'd say "astap," pronounced "ostop." This could be used when someone in your set has been giving the last word in sports cars or when you've been given a handsome present. (Or, another time, to denote enthusiasm of a special sort.)

"Bulldoz" is a French word equivalent to our "it's the most," and "devastating". It may be applied to animate or inanimate objects.

The English have their own expression denoting "real smooth." It's "cracker" (Southern girls please note.) "She's a cracker" is about the highest compliment you can pay a sweet young thing in teen-age English social circles.

Something that is very fabulous or very special is termed "bang-on."

In England, too, rock 'n' roll is old hat, replaced by a dance called the skiffle, a very folksy type of dance. Young people gather in a little restaurant with a guitar and play folk songs, and even dance to the music in groups on the sidewalk.

Young people are word conscious as a rule. They adore the idea of communicating in some mysterious lingo that is puzzling to the ill-informed. There is a secrecy involved that is a bond or pact between the lingo conscious, one reason why young moderns enjoy secret societies, companions, dates—places where they can contrive, plot, intrigue.

It may even be the reason why teen-agers in the secrecy cycle enjoy steady dating, and one reason too for the steady decline of secret talk. After all there isn't much use for language when you're striving to be romantic. Love has a language all its own.

The play is the eighth in the 11th season of the Denison Summer Theater. Otis completed his freshman year at Denison in June.

Leading Children's Director Once a Child-Actor Himself

HOLLYWOOD — One of the best directors of children in the business today is a onetime child star—Sidney Miller.

Sidney, now directing for Walt Disney on both movies and TV (he directs the Mousketeers), appeared in better than 300 movies, from the first talkies onward.

Before that, he had worked on the Children's Hour, a famous radio program, in New York City.

"My mother and I used take the train every Sunday from our home town of Shenandoah, Pa., to New York. One day a Warner's talent scout said Hollywood was looking for young boys for "Penrod and Sam."

"So mother and I came out on the train to Hollywood. I carried my guitar all the way. We arrived here and I went to the casting office myself. I can remember the casting director asking me what my name was.

"Instead of answering, I whipped out the guitar and started singing. For some strange reason, she said she had a part for me. It was as a Catholic altar boy in a religious procession scene.

"I carried the crucifix at the head of the procession and kept thinking how I had just had my Bar Mitzvah a few weeks previously."

He got the part in "Penrod and Sam" too, and from there went into many notable pictures, such as the "Mickey McGuire" series with Mickey Rooney and later "Boy's Town" with Rooney.

Sidney also recalls another series he played in for Educational Pictures, a studio no longer in existence.

"The stars were Junior Coughlin and me. Then they added a cute three-year-old girl as Junior's kid sister. She was really cute and I can remember the director and the producer arguing.

"The director wanted to put the kid under contract at $50 a week. The producer couldn't see it. He said: 'Another year and the kid will grow out of that cuteness.'"

Before she had grown out of it some ten years later, she had made herself and the old Fox Studio millions of dollars. The cute little kid, of course, was Shirley Temple.

Fremont Passes Law To Curb Juveniles

FREMONT — After Aug. 23 it will be a crime for a minor under 18 to enter a place where beer or liquor is served in Fremont, unless accompanied by a parent or guardian. City council adopted the ordinance Friday, providing fines of from $5 to $100 for violators.

Governor Due at Rites

COLUMBUS — Gov. C. William O'Neill will participate in ground-breaking ceremonies Thursday for the 100-bed addition to the Toledo Receiving Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Staaps, of Mt. Vernon, arrived today to spend the weekend with Mrs. H. M. Fite and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henkle, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Donahue and daughter, Cecilia, and Miss Karen Durlinger, have returned home after spending a week at Virginia Beach, Va.

Navy Commander and Mrs. Wallace Fite, and children, Diane and Michael, of Panama Canal Zone, are visiting for 10 days with Cmdr. Fite parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fite, Cmdr. Fite has resigned from the Navy after 26 years of service and after their visit here they will make their home in Gainesville Fla., where Cmdr. Fite will attend the University of Florida.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

You misconstrue the motivation of Frank's behavior when you assume that he conceals his marriage from Angela for fear of hurting her feelings. Actually he keeps quiet due to pure selfishness.

Maybe Angela has a tie to him; who knows? After all, his word (to you) doesn't mean much; thus if he says they never were married, it could be a lie. Or maybe she has a common law wife's claim to him—and lets him have a long leash, as a matter of finesse.

Evidently he is pretty well satisfied with their present arrangement, of keeping in contact amiably, in a mutually undemanding type of exchange. I gather he just doesn't want to give her the shocker-news about you, for fear she might upset the status quo, and thereby upset him. And possibly give you a fill-in about his past, that you hadn't heard before.

Frank doesn't want Angela as a full-fledged companion and obligation; but neither does he want to forfeit her "belonging" attitude towards him. He doesn't want her to lose interest in him and get fully absorbed in another man. He's a dog-in-the-manger operator in this corner of his life.

As for what to do—one might say: If Frank won't tell Angela, why don't you? However, it's risky, trying to interfere in a muddy entanglement that pre-dates your knowledge of him. And, even if you should go on record with her, as being Frank's wife, still that won't make much difference in his shabby character.

In my opinion, the wise procedure is to discuss your untenable situation with a Family Service agency counselor—for first-hand guidance in getting your bearings in this mix-up.

And Now 11-Year-Old Girls Felled by Fad for Dieting

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Things have gone far enough in the diet merry-go-round, it seems to me, when a little girl writes her mother from summer camp: "Dear Mummy: Please send me some sunflower seeds and wheat germ. All they give you here for breakfast is gooey sweet rolls."

This product of our modern age is Pamela Stark, 11-year-old daughter of Wilbur Stark and Kathi Norris, TV producing-editing team currently involved with Story, Mummy Kathi is a lissome Irish colleen with a 21-inch waist who looks like a debutante despite the fact that she has three children — 5-year-old Bradley and year-old Kitty, in addition to Pamela. All three have been raised on such things as raw vegetables and molasses, which they prefer to marshmallow fudge sundaes.

There is no doubt that the Stark children, as well as Mom and Pop, are all healthy and handsome examples of the ideal young American-looking fondly at an insurance policy or piling into a new car in four-color slick-paper magazine me is—are they missing any fun?

There are others, it seems, who have a similar feeling of panic when confronted with some of the currently fashionable facets of modern living. Take Jean Kerr, for instance, who has a piece in the current issue of Harper's "Marshmallow Fudge Diet," in which she issues a personal declaration of independence against all fad diets, including the latest one consisting of mother's milk. Mrs. Kerr, author, playwright and wife of New York drama critic Walter Kerr, says she has noted that most of the recent divorcees of her acquaintance are thin as rails, and continues:

"What actually holds a husband through thick and thin is a girl who is fun to be with. And any girl who has had nothing to eat since 9 o'clock this morning but three hard-boiled eggs will be about as jolly and companionable as an income tax inspector."

American 'Slanguage' Disappearing

Are young moderns becoming more sophisticated or are they just bored with the old "slanguage" routine?

Currently vocabulary is on such an even keel that Mr. Webster would be mighty proud. There's scarcely a "daddy-o" heard at a beach picnic. Things have gone so literal that if a real doll were to say "dig that" a square would pick up a shovel. "Cool" means just that—so hardly heard at this season of the year.

Meanwhile, from abroad comes

Mount Olive WSCS Meets At Engle Home

Mrs. Walter Engle entertained members of the Mount Olive WSCS at her home Thursday with a covered dish luncheon.

The group sang "Jesus Is All the World To Me" for the opening of the afternoon meeting. Mrs. Sam Lightle read from the Scriptures for the devotion and the president, Mrs. Amer Whiteside, read an article from the Upper Room magazine and closed with prayer.

The activities report was read and showed nine visitations made, nine cards sent, six donations and four flower donations. A round robin card was signed to be sent to Mr. Wilbur Hyer.

Mrs. Al Rummans read a poem "Alas" and Miss Effie Henkle read "The Three Trees" for the program which was closed with the repeating of the Lord's Prayer in unison. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Herman Acton and Mrs. Engle will conduct the devotions.

Group Enjoys Annual Picnic Supper Thursday

The Women's Missionary Society of Grace Creek Baptist Church met in the church basement Thursday evening for its annual picnic supper. Mrs. Nellie Hynes decorated the tables and the food was served buffet style.

Mrs. Edwin Howard was in charge of the devotional period which followed the picnic.

During the business session conducted by the president, Mrs. J. C. Coil, she announced that $32 has been realized in the collection taken at the daily vacation Bible school. Mrs. Coil said it would be equally divided and sent to the Dayton Christian Center and Mathew School, Beaufort, S. C.

Announcement was made of an association meeting to be held at the church Sept. 14.

The pastor's wife, Mrs. F. J. Maurer, who is speaker for the Clinton Baptist Assn., gave an interesting talk on "Christian Centers" for the program.

a collection of lively lingo that may still help maintain one in this new elegant word strata. The way to get it going in your set is to confide in one friend and you two spring it when you're with the group.

The most charming words are these:

French young moderns say "sensas," meaning fabulous or terrific. You say it as one word—sensas! Pronounce it sonsoss. If you'd be even more fabulous you'd say "astap," pronounced "ostop." This could be used when someone in your set has been giving the last word in sports cars or when you've been given a handsome present. (Or, another time, to denote enthusiasm of a special sort.)

"Bulldoz" is a French word equivalent to our "it's the most," and "devastating." It may be applied to animate or inanimate objects.

The English have their own expression denoting "real smooth." It's "cracker" (Southern girls please note). "She's a cracker" is about the highest compliment you can pay a sweet young thing in teen-age English social circles.

Something that is very fabulous or very special is termed "bang-on."

In England, too, rock 'n' roll is old hat, replaced by a dance called the skiffle, a very folksy type of dance. Young people gather in a little restaurant with a guitar and play folk songs, and even dance to the music in groups on the sidewalk.

Young people are word conscious as a rule. They adore the idea of communicating in some mysterious lingo that is puzzling to the ill-informed. There is a secrecy involved that is a bond or pact between the lingo conscious, one reason why young moderns enjoy secret societies, companions, dates—places where they can contrive, plot, intrigue.

It may even be the reason why teen-agers in the secrecy cycle enjoy steady dating, and one reason too for the steady decline of secret talk. After all there isn't much use for slanguage when you're striving to be romantic. Love has a language all its own.

Mrs. Ralph Cook Honored at Stork Shower

Mrs. Robert Harris entertained with a stork shower at her home Thursday evening honoring Mrs. Ralph Cook. Mrs. James Stitt and Mrs. Robert Anderson were co-hostesses.

Lovely arrangements of summer flowers decorated the home and the hostesses served dainty refreshments.

Cards were played with prizes being awarded to Mrs. Philip Binzel, Mrs. Horace Jacobs, Mrs. William Lawyer and Mrs. John Craig.

Other guests were Mrs. Mark Schaeper, Mrs. Robert Boyd, Mrs. Richard Wood, Mrs. Fred Domenico and Mrs. Michael Harrison.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I had known Frank for four years before we married six months ago. I am 26 and he is 32. Three years ago he told me of Angela, a woman some years his senior, with whom he'd gone steady for about five years.

During their association she had a child, after which marriage was discussed, but they didn't go through with it as Frank felt it wouldn't work out. Later, after he started dating me, he discontinued their affair, but keeps in touch with her through the years, even taking her out occasionally, "because of the child." All this with my knowledge and approval.

When we decided to marry, we felt it was only right to inform Angela; but in the rush of preparations, Frank hadn't a chance to see or call her, but promised me he would after our honeymoon. However, he still hasn't told her—though he has spoken to her three times by phone, and taken her out twice.

I've reproached him that this is unfair to both Angela and me, to which he replies: "I don't want to hurt her feelings. It isn't easy to 'just tell her.' While a woman doesn't mind losing a man to a job or hobby, she doesn't take kindly to losing him to another woman."

To which I say: He already hurt her long ago, when he failed to marry her. Of course it isn't easy to tell her, but better he does it, than that she hear from other sources. And she isn't losing him NOW; he left her four years ago.

It happens we live in a neighborhood adjacent to Angela's, and in recent conversations she has asked why his car was seen in the neighborhood. Isn't this an excellent opening for telling her of his new status? When I say so, he mumbles excuses.

This situation is putting increasing strain on our happiness; and Frank can't understand why I am hurt that he seems to consider Angela's feelings more than mine. Am I wrong in insisting that he let her know we're married?

DEAR D.B.: It isn't very bright of you to have supposed that Frank would live by an honorable code in marriage, when he wasn't paying much heed to principle in his preparatory experience.

Surely you've heard the proverbial warning: "Never marry a rake to reform him."

You misconstrue the motivation of Frank's behavior when you assume that he conceals his marriage from Angela for fear of hurting her feelings. Actually he keeps quiet due to pure selfishness.

Maybe Angela has a tie to him; who knows? After all, his word (to you) doesn't mean much; thus if he says they never were married, it could be a lie. Or maybe she has a common law wife's claim to him—and lets him have a long leash, as a matter of finesse.

City Growing, Dump Keeper Says

RALPH HUFF superintendent of the city dump operates combination bulldozer and loading scoop, a very necessary piece of equipment for a "landfill" dump. THIS VIEW OF A trench shows how refuse is piled before being mashed down by the bulldozer and later covered with earth. Everything from garbage to tin cans goes into the trenches.

By B. E. KELLEY

There is always some kind of a story around the city dump where everything from garbage to tree trimmings is disposed of—without a trace!

Ralph Huff is the superintendent. "The city is growing fast," declared Huff as he bulldozed garbage and rubbish into a deep trench where it was to be covered over.

"I can tell that by the increased amount of stuff that comes to the dump" he explained.

While I was at the dump 15 or 20 minutes, three trucks and two automobiles were dumping refuse, and one of the auto owners had a large garbage can from which he dumped the contents into the long trench.

I WATCHED HUFF drive the bulldozer down into one of the deep trenches, pushing garbage and other refuse ahead, and noted that swarms of flies stuck so close to the garbage that they were trapped by the moving refuse and quickly buried.

That was one way to dispose of a lot of flies in a hurry.

Most of the odor arising from the garbage also was buried, and when the trench is full and the final layer of earth applied, nothing will be in sight except newly turned earth.

It is estimated the dumping plot on Robinson Rd. just outside the city limits, will last 10 to 12 years, and by that time the sections first used will be available for reuse.

The new dump was started in 1950 on 16 acres of land purchased from William Anderson.

THERE IS NO evidence of rats or mice about the "landfill" operation maintained by the city, and when a trench is filled with rubbish and covered over, there is no evidence that a dumping ground existed in the area.

When the old city dump was located on the McLean land, along Paint Creek between Sycamore St. and Elm St. at the point where a sand and gravel business flourished years ago, it was infested with thousands of rats and mice which spread over a large part of the city, and proved a nuisance generally.

It was years after the old dump was abandoned before rats ceased to use it, or were eradicated by

YOUNGSTOWN (AP)—Addition of five Bessemer converter shifts and one open hearth furnace by Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. here will raise the steel operation rate in the district to over 80 per cent next week for the first time since mid-June.

The operations schedule lists three Bessemer plants, 53 open hearths and 19 blast furnaces. August orders for steel are reported improved over July and September prospects are even brighter.

Good care of the dump means that offensive smells are kept down by covering the decaying matter with a thin layer of earth.

The dump is for free use of everyone in the city, and non-residents of the city who wish to dispose of rubbish, are charged a small fee.

It's a Systematic Operation

City Growing, Dump Keeper Says

RALPH HUFF superintendent of the city dump operates combination bulldozer and loading scoop, a very necessary piece of equipment for a "landfill" dump. THIS VIEW OF A trench shows how refuse is piled before being mashed down by the bulldozer and later covered with earth. Everything from garbage to tin cans goes into the trenches.

By B. E. KELLEY
There is always some kind of a story around the city dump where everything from garbage to tree trimmings is disposed of—without a trace!

Ralph Huff is the superintendent. "The city is growing fast," declared Huff as he bulldozed garbage and rubbish into a deep trench where it was to be covered over.

"I can tell that by the increased amount of stuff that comes to the dump," he explained.

While I was at the dump 15 or 20 minutes, three trucks and two automobiles were dumping refuse, and one of the auto owners had a large garbage can from which he dumped the contents into the long trench.

I WATCHED HUFF drive the bulldozer down into one of the deep trenches, pushing garbage and other refuse ahead, and noted that swarms of flies stuck so close to the garbage that they were trapped by the moving refuse and quickly buried.

That was one way to dispose of a lot of flies in a hurry.

Most of the odor arising from the garbage also was buried, and when the trench is full and the final layer of earth applied, nothing will be in sight except newly turned earth.

It is estimated the dumping plot on Robinson Rd. just outside the city limits, will last 10 to 12 years, and by that time the sections first used will be available for reuse.

The new dump was started in 1950 on 16 acres of land purchased from William Anderson.

THERE IS NO evidence of rats or mice about the "landfill" operation maintained by the city, and when a trench is filled with rubbish and covered over, there is no evidence that a dumping ground existed in the area.

When the old city dump was located on the McLean land, along Paint Creek between Sycamore St. and Elm St. at the point where a sand and gravel business flourished years ago, it was infested with thousands of rats and mice which spread over a large part of the city, and proved a nuisance generally.

It was years after the old dump was abandoned before rats ceased to use it, or were eradicated by

Just When Reds Look Gone, They Come Alive Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Just when some folks were about to scratch Cincinnati from the National League race, the Reds suddenly look robust again, complete with late-inning home runs for a three-game winning streak.

Brash Bobby Bragan Booted

Pirate Management Taps Murtaugh for Job
CHICAGO (AP)—Brash Bobby Bragan today was fired as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Coach Danny Murtaugh was named to carry on for the balance of the season.

Pirate General Manager Joe L. Brown said Bragan in his second season, was dismissed for the "general welfare" of the club. He did not elaborate.

A club spokesman said Clyde Sukeforth, veteran Pirate coach, was first offered the job but turned it down in Murtaugh's favor.

The spokesman said Murtaugh accepted the post with the "full understanding" that it was only to be temporary.

Murtaugh, 39, became a Pirate coach in 1956 after four years of managing in the minor leagues. He broke into the major leagues as an infielder with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1941, spent part of the 1947 season with the Boston Braves and then was traded to the Pirates.

Brown said Bragan's dismissal was "by far the most difficult decision" he ever had to make. And he said Bragan accepted it gracefully, in a "big man" way.

Bragan said he was neither surprised or shocked at the news. "When you're losing things like that don't come as a shock or surprise," he said. "That's the way the ball bounces."

The fiery manager said he lost his job for many reasons but primarily because his team was losing the Pirates are in seventh place in the National League. They finished in seventh last year. "It's been a series of things," he said. "Primarily losing, and Brown felt it was time to make a change."

Referring to Brown, Bragan said "we're the same age, you know, both the aggressive type and both like to have our own way. We didn't see eye to eye on a number of things."

He said he didn't want to go into the other "things."

Bragan was hired as Pirate manager in November 1955 and was re-hired last November.

R&S Team To Play Here On Sunday

Prospects of the Ross & Satterfield team winning its second game of the season in the Southwestern Ohio (SVO) League Sunday afternoon are not exactly bright, but Tommy Smalley, the R & S headman, is hopeful. The two teams are to meet at the park on Oakland Ave. here.

The outlook is gloomy because the R & S outfit is handicapped by a series of injuries which have taken some of the key players out of the lineup. The last hit by the jinx was Roy Woodrow, who suffered a broken jaw in a player collision last Sunday in Columbus.

He is still in Grant Hospital, Columbus, and Smalley said the bat would be passed at Sunday's game here for him. Two benefit games—one in Columbus and one here—are planned.

While the Greenfielders are playing here Sunday, the Columbus All Stars will be at Chillicothe; Bloomington at the Reformatory in Chillicothe and Blanchester at Milledgeville.

This is the way the teams stand now:

Columbus	11	0
Chillicothe	9	3
Greenfield	7	4
Reformatory	6	6
Milledgeville	5	2
Bloomington	5	7
Washington C. H.	1	8
Blanchester	0	11

Only three teams have played all their scheduled games. The other five have from one to five playoffs facing them.

Realtors Win Pitchers' Duel

The Realtors edged the Kernels, 6-5 Friday night in a brilliant pitchers' duel between Harry O'Cull and Ronnie Owen.

Owen finally won out, but had to whiff 15 Kernels to do it. He hurled shutout ball during the last two frames. When the chips were down, Owen, a fastballing righty, was especially brilliant.

O'Cull pitched magnificently in giving the Realtors only four hits, however, the fast balling Kernels were hurt by his mates' play in the field. In fact, had it not been for nine Kernels miscues, two by O'Cull himself, he would have breezed to victory.

The Realtors now are in first place for the second round after having finished in a tie for the cellar in the first round. The Realtors record now stands at 6 wins and 2 losses. The Kernels, in third place have won four while losing three.

Youth League Chatter

On the Sidelines

By DAVID KORN
Lack of facing several good left hand twirlers during the regular season proved to be the downfall of the Fayette County All Star team of the Babe Ruth loop in the divisional tournament at Phillipsburg. Not used to looking at the slants of many portenders in regular games, the Fayette County boys saw enough of the Phillipsburg southpaw Saturday to last them a lifetime—well, at least until next tournament time. Haworth, the little lefty who so venomously silenced the local boys' bats, gave them only five hits while zeroing them at 5-0.

However, Fayette County could not have been represented better as both entries showed such a fine quality of baseball that those associated with the tournament and the two FC teams now regard the league here as one of the finest around.

Reports say that the current ticket drive, boosted and sponsored by youth leagues and those associated with the loops, is going along at a fast clip. There has been discussion as to reports about the WHS band taking part in the Aug. 20 "Washington C. H. Nite" at Jet Stadium. However, it would be a problem to assemble all the bandmen and their uniforms, although it would be a fine civic gesture, indeed.

Grapevine has it that there is a certain Little League manager who is on the outs with the Little League committee. It seems that his club's leading player was excluded from the All-Star squad, an act not to the likes of the managing grapevine.

Gary Knisley, Loafer hurler of the Minor League, gave an excellent exhibition of his hitting prowess Monday evening at Wilson Field when he belted out a pair of triples and a home run. As if his lousy slugging was not enough, Knisley twirled a 5-hitter.

Answer to question: There are two prominent switch hitters in the Babe Ruth loop this year. They are Terry Stillings, Brays, and Mike Evans. Bloomington. Stillings is a pitcher-infielder while Evans is a pitcher-first baseman.

Mike Lawrence made exactly two outs in the tournament at Phillipsburg. Lawrence went on an 8 for 10 spurge off enemy pitchers, to exceed the hitting accomplishments of any of his mates, and probably those of any other batsmen in the tournament.

There are still several Little League managers who neglect to turn in the scores of their games after each game is played. Returns of each game should be turned in to this paper not later than 8 a. m. on the following day. The players like to see reports of their games in the Record-Herald—so do we.

Jake Evans, Babe Ruth and Little League arbiter, is suffering from a bad back. For several days Evans was not able to call 'em from behind the dish and had to confine his efforts to the basepaths.

Answer To Question: (Is there any truth to the rumor that the local American Legion Junior Team will disband?) No. At least Ernie Cretney, team manager, denies that said rumor is true. Unless an unforeseen incident occurs, the team will continue playing games with various Legion clubs.

WCH Athletics Win at Troy

Getting in shape for Sunday afternoon's Heart of Ohio League game with Reynoldsburg, the Washington C. H. Athletics played an exhibition game at Troy Friday—and won it 9 to 6.

It was the daring base running that turned the trick for the Athletics at Troy. In converting their 9 hits into as many runs, they stole 8 bases—and they stole them from a couple of right fair catchers, too.

The Troy team, which plays in the Dayton City League, got 14 hits off Kenny Robinett and Alex Wickman, but cashed in only 6 runs.

The Athletics made their new strategy pay off in the first inning when they scored 4 runs on 4 hits, 3 stolen bases, a walk and a sacrifice fly.

Going into the last inning with only a 1-run edge, the Athletics bunched 2 hits and 2 stolen bases with a Troy error for 2 runs.

Dale Coppock got the only extra base hit, a triple, for the Athletics.

One of the doubles was controversial as it was claimed that the ball hopped the left field fence on the bounce. Several of the Medic players felt that the ball cleared the fence in the air.

Just When Reds Look Gone, They Come Alive Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Just when some folks were about to scratch Cincinnati from the National League race, the Reds suddenly look robust again, complete with late-inning home runs for a three-game winning streak.

After slipping from first to fifth with a terrible July run (13-14), the Reds again on the way back, winning 'em late—but winning.

Ted Kluszewski, Wally Post and Smokey Burgess were back in business Friday night for a 9-6 victory over the New York Giants. Klus belted a two-run homer for a first inning lead, Burgess smacked a two-run shot to regain the edge in the eighth, and Post picked a three-run drive to win it in the ninth.

The victory put the fourth-place Reds within one game of Brooklyn, after Gene Conley four-hit the Dodgers and lined the run-scoring single in a 1-0 Milwaukee victory that kept the second-place Braves just two points shy of St. Louis. Brooklyn is 2½ games behind.

The Cardinals won their seventh in a row, nailing fifth-place Philadelphia 5-4 in 10 innings as Stan Musial doubled home the clincher. The Man had three hits, all for extra bases.

Chicago's Cubs, without one earned run, defeated Pittsburgh 6-4 in the other NL game. It was the sixth straight loss for the seventh-place Pirates, leading to Manager Bobby Bragan's dismissal early today. Coach Danny Murtaugh took his place.

The American League race bordered on a "runaway" again as the New York Yankees, hitless for 6 1/3 innings against Don Mossi, pushed to a five-game spread with a 3-2 victory over Cleveland. The second-place Chicago White Sox lost their second in a row, this one 5-4 to Boston in 10.

Washington skipped out of the cellar with a 2-1 victory over Detroit while Baltimore plunked Kansas City to eighth with a two-night sweep, 5-4 in 13 innings and 10-2.

The Giants, losing six in a row, made a fight of it with home runs by Bobby Thomson and Willie Mays and a tying run in the top of the ninth on Danny O'Connell's single. Hersey Freeman won it.

Musial's second double sent Don Blasingame home from first base, digging past third when left fielder Harry Anderson slipped fielding the drive on the run. Willard Schmidt, with a two-hit relief job over four frames, won his 10th in a row for a 10-1 record. Wally Moon pushed his hit streak to 19 games with two doubles.

Conley gave up only singles, three to Carl Furillo. He walked five, but fanned Duke Snider, Gil Hodges and Rube Walker in clutch spots. Johnny Podres lost it for a 9-4 record when the Braves scored an unearned run in the fifth.

Mossi had faced only 19 men when Gil McDougald and Mickey Mantle hit back-to-back homers for a 2-2 tie in the seventh. It was Mantle's 29th. A walk and singles by Tony Kubek and pinch-hitter Larry Simpson won it in the eighth.

A bases-loaded single by Jackie Jensen won for the Red Sox, who blew an early lead set up by Ted Williams' three-run homer, his 30th to match Henry Aaron of the Braves for the major league lead. The Senators, in eighth since April 26, made it on Julio Becquer's RBI single in the ninth to beat Paul Foytack. Camillo Pascual won it after Roy Sievers tied it 1-1 with his 29th home run—matching the club mark he set last season.

R&S Team To Play Here On Sunday

Prospects of the Ross & Satterfield team winning its second game of the season in the southwestern Ohio (SWO) League Sunday afternoon are not exactly bright, but Tommy Smalley, the R & S headman, is hopeful. The two teams are to meet at the park on Oakland Ave. here.

The outlook is gloomy because the R & S outfit is handicapped by a series of injuries which have taken some of the key players out of the lineup. The last hit by the jinx was Roy Woodrow, who suffered a broken jaw in a player collision last Sunday in Columbus.

He is still in Grant Hospital, Columbus, and Smalley said the hat would be passed at Sunday's game here for him. Two benefit games—one in Columbus and one here—are planned.

While the Greenfielders are playing here Sunday, the Columbus All Stars will be at Chillicothe; Bloomingburg at the Reformatory in Chillicothe and Blanchester at Milledgeville.

This is the way the teams stand now:

Columbus	11	0
Chillicothe	9	3
Reformatory	7	4
Bloomingburg	6	6
Milledgeville	5	2
Washington C. H.	1	8
Blanchester	0	11

Only three teams have played all their scheduled games. The other five have from one to five plays facing them.

Realtors Win Pitchers' Duel

The Realtors edged the Kernels, 6-5 Friday night in a brilliant pitchers' duel between Harry O'Call and Ronnie Owen.

Owen finally won out, but had to whiff 15 Kernels to do it. He hurled shutout ball during the last two frames. When the chips were down, Owen, a fastballing righty, was especially brilliant.

O'Call pitched magnificently in giving the Realtors only four hits, however, the fast balling Kernels were hurt by his mates' play in the field. In fact, had it not been for nine Kernels miscues, two by O'Call himself, he would have breezed to victory.

The Realtors now are in first place for the second round after having finished in a tie for the cellar in the first round. The Realtors record now stands at 6 wins and 2 losses. The Kernels, in third place have won four while losing three.

Youth League Chatter

On the Sidelines

By DAVID KORN

Lack of facing several good left hand twirlers during the regular season proved to be the downfall of the Fayette County All Star team of the Babe Ruth loop in the divisional tournament at Phillipsburg. Not used to looking at the slants of many portersiders in regular games, the Fayette County boys saw enough of the Phillipsburg southpaw Saturday to last them a lifetime—well, at least until next tournament time. Haworth, the little lefty who so venomously silenced the local boys' bats, gave them only five hits while zeroing them at 5-0.

However, Fayette County could not have been represented better as both entries showed such a fine quality of baseball that those associated with the tournament and the two FC teams now regard the league here as one of the finest around.

Reports say that the current ticket drive, boosted and sponsored by youth leagues and those associated with the loops, is going along at a fast clip. There has been discussion as to reports about the WHS band taking part in the Aug. 20 "Washington C. H. Nite" at Jet Stadium. However, it would be a problem to assemble all the bandsmen and their uniforms, although it would be a fine civic gesture, indeed.

Grapevine has it that there is a certain Little League manager who is on the outs with the Little League committee. It seems that his club's leading player was excluded from the All-Star squad, an act not to the liking of the manager.

Gary Knisley, Loafer hurler of the Minor League, gave an excellent exhibition of his hitting prowess Monday evening at Wilson Field when he belted out a pair of triples and a home run. As if his lucky slugging was not enough, Knisley twirled a 5-hitter.

Answer to question: There are two prominent switch hitters in the Babe Ruth loop this year. They are Terry Stillings, Brays, and Mike Evans. Bloomingburg. Stillings is a pitcher-infielder while Evans is a pitcher-first baseman.

Mike Lawrence made exactly two outs in the tournament at Phillipsburg. Lawrence went on an 8 for 10 spurge off enemy pitchers, to exceed the hitting accomplishments of any of his mates, and probably those of any other batsmen in the tournament.

There are still several Little League managers who neglect to turn in the scores of their games after each one is played. Returns of each game should be turned in to this paper not later than 8 a. m. on the following day. The players like to see reports of their games in the Record-Herald—so do we.

Jake Evans, Babe Ruth and Little League arbiter, is suffering from a bad back. For several days Evans was not able to call 'em from behind the dish and had to confine his efforts to the basepaths.

Answer To Question: (Is there any truth to the rumor that the local American Legion Junior Team will disband?) No. At least Ernie Cretny, team manager, denies that said rumor is true. Unless an unforeseen incident occurs, the team will continue playing games with various Legion clubs.

WCH Athletics Win at Troy

Getting in shape for Sunday afternoon's Heart of Ohio League game with Reynoldsburg, the Washington C. H. Athletics played an exhibition game at Troy Friday—and won it 9 to 6.

It was the daring base running that turned the trick for the Athletics at Troy. In converting their 9 hits into as many runs, they stole 8 bases—and they stole them from a couple of right fair catchers, too.

The Troy team, which plays in the Dayton City League, got 14 hits off Kenny Robinson and Alex Wackman, but cashed in only 6 runs.

The Athletics made their new strategy pay off in the first inning when they scored 4 runs on 4 hits, 3 stolen bases, a walk and a sacrifice fly.

Going into the last inning with only a 1-run edge, the Athletics bunched 2 hits and 2 stolen bases with a Troy error for 2 runs.

Dale Cockpott got the only extra base hit, a triple, for the Athletics.

THE ATHLETICS are anxious to win Sunday's game from Reynoldsburg, because it will give them a 7-7 record and possibly raise them to fourth place in the standing.

The game will be played at Linden Park in Columbus.

Other games in the H-O League Sunday are: Lancaster at Lockbourne Air Force Base; unbeaten Grove City at Zanesville and Chillicothe at Columbus.

day at the plate Thursday against Bloomingburg. The Medic outfielder had three for three with a pair of doubles. One of the doubles was controversial as it was claimed that the ball hopped the left field fence on the bounce. Several of the Medic players felt that the ball cleared the fence in the air.

The Redlegs came up with their first victory Wednesday evening in the Little Minor loop as they downed the Thunderbirds, 10-5.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

"Enjoy Ohio" is the title of an interesting booklet issued by the Ohio Development and Publicity Commission for free distribution, and copies are available at the Fayette County Automobile Club office.

On the front cover 'of the booklet, which gives much valuable information for tourists, is a picture of the Perry monument with Put-In-Bay in the background.

Many pictures in color, of famous places, people and things, are carried in the book, which is of general interest and particularly to those who have not traveled widely in Ohio.

Of the noteworthy things pictured and described, are the famous deep glacial grooves cut in the solid limestone, on Kelley's Island in Lake Erie, where the hard granite rocks were dragged across the softer limestone, literally plowing their way through in the relentless pushing forward of the huge ice mountains which once covered much of Ohio.

Scenes on Lake Erie, some of the public parks, scenes in leading cities and recreations points generally are shown.

A full page is devoted to Serpent Mound in Adams County, which reminds me that there is another huge earth serpent mound in Ohio, just north of the CCC highway, some two miles west of Morrow, which is still on private land, and which the Ohio Historical Society has refused to take over on the grounds that it has not been proven to be a real

Last U. S. Division Leaving Japan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The last American division is pulling out of Japan nearly 12 years after landing there as a conqueror. Withdrawal of the Army's first Cavalry Division as announced Thursday by the Defense Department. It said the action carries out a pledge by President Eisenhower last June that all U. S. ground troops would leave Japan within the year. Actual completion of the ground force withdrawal is expected within a few weeks when the 8th Regiment of the 3rd Marine Division is shipped to Okinawa.

2 Are Injured As Cars Collide

3 Other Accidents Reported Friday

Confusion over the operation of a set of directional signals resulted from an accident in which two people were injured a mile south of Washington C. H. about 3 p. m. Friday.

The sheriff's department identified the victims as:

Harlan Baird, 28, of 324 Ely St., city, undergoing treatment at Memorial Hospital for lacerations of the face and head; and

Mrs. Virginia Baird, 25, of London, treated in the emergency room at the hospital for lacerations of the right arm.

Both were passengers in a car driven by Mrs. Baird's husband, Willard Farrell Baird, 25, of London. Baird's auto collided with the left side of a car driven by Walter Shoop, 55, of Sabina.

Shoop was attempting to turn left off Route 35 into a driveway, and had slowed down to about 5 miles per hour. He claimed he had his directional signals on.

Baird, the brother of the hospitalized victim, claimed the signals were not on, and that he was attempting to pass when Shoop turned into the right front corner of his car.

Fenders, grills and bumpers were the auto casualties. The side of Shoop's car also was caved in. Sheriff Orland Hays said he was making no charges, but he pointed out either driver could file a charge if he felt he had a case.

A MARTINSVILLE youth was arrested after an accident in front of Wackman's Iron and Metal Co., 1122 Columbus Ave., about 8:50 a. m. Saturday.

Patrolman Herschel Taylor said James L. Richard, 20, of Martinsville, failed to stop in time to avoid hitting the rear of an auto driven by Robert Conger of 707 Peabody St. Conger said he had slowed down to negotiate a turn into the Iron and Metal Co. yard.

Two other mishaps were reported in the city Friday.

Philip French, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray French of Route 22, east, told police his brakes failed him when he bumped the rear of a car driven by Ralph Medary, 20, of New Holland. The mishap occurred at Court and Fayette Sts.

Police said George Salyer, 19, of 122 W. Elm St., was going east on Washington Ave. when his car hit one driven by Floyd Roberts, 51, of 203 Florence St., as it crossed in front of him to go from Washington Ave. into East St.

Damage was slight and no one was charged. The accident occurred about 12:20 p. m.

Police Amazed As Girl Rides Astride Hood

TOLEDO (U)—Cruiser Patrolmen blinked in astonishment Friday as they spotted a speeding automobile with 19-year-old Carol Turner riding astride the hood.

Another woman was driving. From Miss Turner and Jack D. Newton, police pieced together this explanation:

Newton was taking a shower while Miss Turner was in another part of his apartment. A girl Newton claims he knows only as Sally knocked on his door, and after spotting Miss Turner, ran to Newton's car.

Miss Turner jumped on the hood in an effort to prevent Sally from taking the car and got a ride for her troubles.

Police were unable to catch the car, but Miss Turner said she managed to jump off later, suffering a stubbed toe.

Mansfield Beauty Named Ohio Queen

WOOSTER (U)—An 18-year-old blonde with brown eyes will represent Ohio in the Miss America beauty contest at Atlantic City.

Seven judges took a long look at the ten contestants gathered here Friday night before picking Linda Kay Hattman of Mansfield as Miss Ohio.

The 5-foot-4½ Miss Mansfield, who boasts measurements of 35-24-35, was presented a $1,000 check in addition to the trip east.

The Senate stripped out of the House measure authority for the attorney general to obtain federal court injunctions to enforce civil rights generally, limiting this power to the protection of voting rights.

And, in an even more stunning blow to the administration early Friday, the Senate adopted, 51-42, an amendment providing for jury trials of any criminal contempt charges growing out of injunctions obtained by the government in voting rights cases and many other cases.

Eisenhower said Friday that interposing "a jury trial between a federal judge and his legal orders would weaken our whole judicial system."

He also said that "in this case it will also make largely ineffective the basic purpose of the bill—that of protecting promptly and effectively every American in his right to vote."

Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-NJ), a leading supporter of the administration bill, said he agreed with Eisenhower and hoped the jury trial amendment could be erased in Senate-House conference.

22 Building Permits Issued For New East Side Addition

Twenty-two building permits were issued Friday by City Manager James F. Parkinson for new homes in the newly annexed Brownell and Gilmore addition on East View Rd.

Jess Gilmore, developer and builder, received what was said to be the largest number of permits ever issued here at one time. The aggregate value of the 22 new homes is approximately $300,000.

Some of the new houses already completed and others are under construction, Parkinson said. He said that Gilmore had discussed the project with his office from its inception and that all city building requirements are being met.

Gilmore said that all the homes will be of three-bedroom frame, construction and will cost from $11,500 to $16,000. "Some of the houses will have one bathroom," he said, "and others will have one and a half."

THE NEW development is in the eastern part of the city just north of Washington Ave. and just east of Carolyn Rd.

The East View Road homes are just the beginning, Gilmore says. "We will lay out more roads in that area in the very near future," the developer reported.

They were to be sent home Saturday.

Month-Old Murder

We've gone down one blind alley after another. We're just going at things one at a time, with no preconceptions."

"Naturally, the investigation has 'slowed down' at this point—we've got other things to work on, too," the sheriff asserted. "But," he added, "that doesn't mean we aren't going at it still."

"Hardly a day goes by but what I chase down some bad lead," he said, adding "Just look at the figures: we've had a least one suspect for every day of the investigation."

THE MURDER was discovered about 3:15 p. m. July 2 by Mrs. Herman Dean and Wilbur Chrisman, neighbors who became aroused when they noticed no signs of life around the DeWitt home.

Mrs. DeWitt, a widow who made her home alone despite her advanced years, was found lying across the foot of a muscled bed in an upstairs bedroom. The hatchet—her own, used for chopping wood,—was beside her.

Though officers' first impressions were that she had been criminally assaulted, subsequent investigation led to the feeling that robbery must have been the motive. Several purses had been gathered from various parts of the house and left lying on a bed in another upstairs room.

There was no money in the purses, but officers aren't certain that she kept any there.

A small alabaster vase in which she kept small amounts of change was the only thing found missing from the house. It is still missing, according to all indications. The sheriff said several weeks ago: "If we find that vase, the person with it will have an awful lot of explaining to do to prove he's not our man."

MRS. DEAN, who was Mrs. DeWitt's nearest neighbor, said she saw a 30-year-old man, possibly a tramp, go to the rear of the DeWitt home about 9:15 a. m. on the fateful day.

He reappeared a few moments later, crossed the street, and knocked on the back door of the Dean farm house. Mrs. Dean refused to let him in. He then crossed the road again, returned to the back of the DeWitt cottage, and reappeared a few minutes later.

Mrs. Dean told the sheriff he "walked on north towards Mt. Sterling and Columbus, looking back over his shoulder as he went."

The man, described as "about 30, tall, thin, a Negro, wearing suede shoes, blue pants, a T-shirt and a soft summer cap," apparently was seen by several other people, including Mrs. DeWitt's milkman and construction workers on the CCC highway.

Other neighbors said a man fitting the description had been in the neighborhood the day before looking for work and food.

ALL EFFORTS in the early part of the search concentrated upon finding that man. Six suspects were held for investigation: five of them here and a sixth in Bedford, Pa., where he was picked up by Pennsylvania State Police.

All were picked up and released during the first stages of investigation. If anyone else has been held since, the sheriff isn't saying so. Indications are that no one has.

But the steady prodding and pushing has gone on; the day-to-day follow-up of bad leads and mischances.

"We'll keep pushing," the sheriff said, adding, "and there's one thing you can bet on: we'll get him. It may not be this week, or this month, or this year, but we'll get him someday, just as sure as you're sitting there."

MISS CHLOE MILLER—Services for Miss Chloe Miller of Bloomingburg, who died last Wednesday at Memorial Hospital, were held Friday at 3 p. m. at the Gerstner Funeral Home. The Rev. Dr. Robert Ustick of the First Presbyterian Church, Clifton, officiated.

Pallbearers were four nephews, Irvin, Robert, Gene and Russell Miller and John Mahew and Keith Garringer. Burial was in Washington C. H. Cemetery.

Atomic Plant Union OKs New Pay Contract

WAVERLY (U)—Union workers at the Goodyear Atomic Corp. plant near here have agreed to a new contract that will provide average hourly wage increases totalling 22 cents by next April 30.

Local 689 of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union voted 607 to 325 Friday in favor of the new contract halting a threat of a strike set for Monday.

The three-year contract, to be signed Monday by union and management representatives, sets up these average hourly wage increases:

Eleven cents retroactive to last April 30, when the old contract expired.

Two more cents to be added Monday.

Nine more cents beginning next April 30.

A Taft-Hartley injunction restraining the workers from striking would have ended Monday after it had been imposed 80 days ago. The injunction halted a strike which had begun when the old contract expired.

The new agreement, also provides for reopening of wage negotiations after two years with strike power at that time.

It provides for an impartial physician to determine whether workers should receive sick benefits, rather than a company doctor. It also calls for union and management to clarify job descriptions and exercise closer control on seniority rights.

Average wages under the old contract were $2.42 an hour.

Dance Crowd Reduced by Rain Threat

A light drizzle and the continued threat of rain was blamed for reducing the size of the crowd at Friday night's 50 - 50 dance a bit under expectations.

However, Fred Domenico, director of the community recreation program of which the dance series is a part, said the turnout was bigger than that at the first dance six weeks ago.

Since no charge is made, and consequently there are no accurate attendance figures, the size of the crowds is based on estimates.

Domenico said the attendance at the dance Friday night was around 700 to 800. He estimated the crowd at the first one as slightly less than that and the one just before Fair Week at "well over 1,000."

Friday night's dance was the first one for which there was "live music" and it was fine for the square dances.

Friday night's dance was sponsored by the Wayne Progressive Farmer 4-H Club.

Next Friday night's dance will be sponsored by the Silver Rock Motorcycle Club's women's auxiliary.

The crowds continue to be made up of dancers of all ages—men and women, boys and girls, who come from all parts of the county, its villages and the city.

Break-in at Home Reported by Laufer

Charles Laufer of Dennis Ave. (off Lewis St. at the city line) told police his house was broken into sometime between Monday and Friday while he was out of town.

Nothing was taken, Laufer said. Patrolman Herschel Taylor reported entry was made through the front of the house, where the screen door lock had been broken and the front door forced open with—apparently—a screw driver.

13 More Petitions Filed With Board of Elections

Thirteen new petitions for election had been filed with Harold G. McLean, clerk of the Board of Elections of Friday evening.

Ten of the petitions are for municipal offices in Jeffersonville. Petitions for the office of mayor have been filed by Russell Mitchell the incumbent, and by Clarence R. Robinson. Wilma J. Higgins and Marguerite Flax have both filed for clerk and six candidates for councilman have filed. They are Ralph M. Detty, Ray DeWine, Kenneth L. Hammond, Dudley K. Higgins, Gerald F. Knost and Donald Porter.

Judge Max G. Dice has filed his petition for reelection to the Washington C. H. municipal judgeship.

Warren E. Brannon has filed for Council Township trustee, and Raymond Rodgers has filed for the same office in Wayne Township.

Candidates have until 5 p. m. to file their petitions for election in the Nov. 5 general election.

Fiscal Fuddle Is Created as Prisoner Flees

AKRON (U)—Robert Alexander, whereabouts unknown, probably would be interested in knowing that his sudden departure created a fiscal fuddle.

The 38-year-old Alexander, accused of breaking and entering, developed a toothache while being held in the county jail last month.

As a guest of the county, he was entitled to free dental services so he was taken to the office of Dr. S. W. Day.

After the anesthetic had been injected, and before the dentist could wield his pliers, Alexander dived through a second story window, bounced off a guy wire and landed running.

The dentist hasn't bothered to submit a bill, but has sounded out the county on what his prospects might be. As outlined by Assistant Prosecutor Harold F. White, the situation is that the county cannot disburse any funds for uncompleted dental services, or for $25 worth of repairs to the guy wire.

However, Dr. Day has one slight chance. If Alexander comes into the clutches of the law again, the dentist will have an opportunity to submit a bill to the patient. And extract the fund if he can.

2 Are Injured As Cars Collide

3 Other Accidents Reported Friday

Confusion over the operation of a set of directional signals resulted from an accident in which two people were injured a mile south of Washington C. H. about 3 p. m. Friday.

The sheriff's department identified the victims as:

Harlan Baird, 28, of 324 Ely St., city, undergoing treatment at Memorial Hospital for lacerations of the face and head; and

Mrs. Virginia Baird, 25, of London, treated in the emergency room at the hospital for lacerations of the right arm.

Both were passengers in a car driven by Mrs. Baird's husband, Willard Farrell Baird, 25, of London. Baird's auto collided with the left side of a car driven by Walter Shoop, 55, of Sabina.

Shoop was attempting to turn left off Route 35 into a driveway, and had slowed down to about 5 miles per hour. He claims he had his directional signals on.

Baird, the brother of the hospitalized victim, claimed the signals were not on, and that he was attempting to pass when Shoop turned into the right front corner of his car.

Fenders, grills and bumpers were the auto casualties. The side of Shoop's car also was caved in. Sheriff Orland Hays said he was making no charges, but he pointed out either driver could file a charge if he felt he had a case.

A MARTINSVILLE youth was arrested after an accident in front of Wackman's Iron and Metal Co., 1122 Columbus Ave., about 8:50 a. m. Saturday.

Patrolman Herschel Taylor said James L. Richard, 20, of Martinsville, failed to stop in time to avoid hitting the rear of an auto driven by Robert Conger of 707 Peabody St. Conger said he had slowed down to negotiate a turn into the Iron and Metal Co. yard.

Two other mishaps were reported in the city Friday.

Philip French, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray French of Route 22, east, told police his brakes failed him when he bumped the rear of a car driven by Ralph Medary, 20, of New Holland. The mishap occurred at Court and Fayette Sts.

Police said George Salyer, 19, of 122 W. Elm St., was going east on Washington Ave. when his car hit one driven by Floyd Roberts, 51, of 203 Florence St., as it crossed in front of him to go from Washington Ave. into East St.

Damage was slight and no one was charged. The accident occurred about 12:20 p. m.

Police Amazed As Girl Rides Astride Hood

TOLEDO (AP)—Cruiser Patrolmen blinked in astonishment Friday as they spotted a speeding automobile with 19-year-old Carol Turner riding astride the hood.

Another woman was driving. From Miss Turner and Jack D. Newton, police pieced together this explanation:

Newton was taking a shower while Miss Turner was in another part of his apartment. A girl Newton claims he knows only as Sally knocked on his door, and after spotting Miss Turner, ran to Newton's car.

Miss Turner jumped on the hood in an effort to prevent Sally from taking the car and got a ride for her troubles.

Police were unable to catch the car, but Miss Turner said she managed to jump off later, suffering a stubbed toe.

Mansfield Beauty Named Ohio Queen

WOOSTER (AP)—An 18-year-old blonde with brown eyes will represent Ohio in the Miss America beauty contest at Atlantic City.

Seven judges took a long look at the ten contestants gathered here Friday night before picking Linda Kay Hattman of Mansfield as Miss Ohio.

The 5-foot-4½ Miss Mansfield, who boasts measurements of 35-24-35, was presented a $1,000 check in addition to the trip east.

Atomic Plant Union OKs New Pay Contract

WAVERLY (AP)— Union workers at the Goodyear Atomic Corp. plant near here have agreed to a new contract that will provide average hourly wage increases totaling 22 cents by next April 30.

Local 10-689 of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union voted 607 to 325 Friday in favor of the new contract halting a threat of a strike set for Monday.

The three-year contract, to be signed Monday by union and management representatives, sets up these average hourly wage increases:

Eleven cents retroactive to last April 30, when the old contract expired.

Two more cents to be added Monday.

Nine more cents beginning next April 30.

A Taft - Hartley injunction restraining the workers from striking would have ended Monday after it had been imposed 80 days ago. The injunction halted a strike which had begun when the old contract expired.

The new agreement also provides for reopening of wage negotiations after two years with strike power at that time.

It provides for an impartial physician to determine whether workers should receive sick benefits, rather than a company doctor. It also calls for union and management to clarify job descriptions and exercise closer control on seniority rights.

Average wages under the old contract were $2.42 an hour.

Dance Crowd Reduced by Rain Threat

A light drizzle and the continued threat of rain was blamed for reducing the size of the crowd at Friday night's 50-50 dance a bit under expectations.

However, Fred Domenico, director of the community recreation program of which the dance series is a part, said the turnout was bigger than that at the first dance six weeks ago.

Since no charge is made, and consequently there are no accurate attendance figures, the size of the crowds is based on estimates.

Domenico said the attendance at the dance Friday night was around 700 to 800. He estimated the crowd at the first one as slightly less than that and the one just before Fair Week at "well over 1,000."

Friday night's dance was the first one for which there was "live music" and it was fine for the square dances.

Friday night's dance was sponsored by the Wayne Progressive Farmer 4-H Club.

Next Friday night's dance will be sponsored by the Silver Rock Motorcycle Club's women's auxiliary.

The crowds continue to be made up of dancers of all ages—men and women, boys and girls, who come from all parts of the county, its villages and the city.

Break-in at Home Reported by Laufer

Charles Laufer of Dennis Ave. (off Lewis St. at the city line) told police his house was broken into sometime between Monday and Friday while he was out of town.

Nothing was taken, Laufer said. Patrolman Herschel Taylor reported entry was made through the front of the house, where the screen door lock had been broken and the front door forced open with—apparently—a screw driver.

ONEIDA, N.Y. (AP)—Twelve-year-old William Harrington raced through the entrance of the municipal swimming pool, leaped into 11 feet of water, then yelled for help. After being fished out, he explained: "I can't swim."

Fiscal Fuddle Is Created as Prisoner Flees

AKRON (AP)—Robert Alexander, whereabouts unknown, probably would be interested in knowing that his sudden departure created a fiscal fuddle.

The 38-year-old Alexander, accused of breaking and entering, developed a toothache while being held in the county jail last month.

As a guest of the county, he was entitled to free dental services so he was taken to the office of Dr. S. W. Day.

After the anesthetic had been injected, and before the dentist could wield his pliers, Alexander dived through a second story window, bounced off a guy wire and landed running.

The dentist hasn't bothered to submit a bill, but has sounded out the county on what his prospects might be. As outlined by Assistant Prosecutor Harold F. White, the situation is that the county cannot disburse any funds for uncompleted dental services, or for $25 worth of repairs to the guy wire.

However, Dr. Day has one slight chance. If Alexander comes into the clutches of the law again, the dentist will have an opportunity to submit a bill to the patient. And extract the fund if he can.

petition for reelection to the Washington C. H. municipal judgeship. Warren E. Brannon has filed for Concord Township trustee, and Raymond Rodgers has filed for the same office in Wayne Township.

Candidates have until 7 p. m. to file their petitions for election in the Nov. 5 general election.
